$5 Million Condominium Has Miramonte Groundbreaking

Ground - breaking ceremonies this week marked the start of construction of a $5 million "prestige" 303-unit condominium adjacent to Miramonte High School. Target date for completion is April.

The land use permit for the project was hotly contested by members of the community in the late spring of last year. Residents of Diablo View Estates, across Morago Way from the site, were leaders of the opposition.

DEVELOPMENT of the choice 23-acre orchard property at Moraga Way and Ivy Drive is a joint project of Capital Company, real estate subsidiary of Transamerica Corporation, Duffel - Smoot Company, prominent Contra Costa developers, and John F. Snow.

Larry L. Freels, architect who drew the site plan for the condominium is currently suing Duffel - Smoot to dissolve a partnership agreement. (See separate story)

Representatives of the developers and County officials participating in the ground - breaking ceremony, included: Victor Sauer, director of public works; A. A. Dehaesus, member of the county's planning department; Edward B. Juliber, president of Capital Company; Joseph A. Duffel and Joe B. Smoot, Duffel-Smoot Company; John F. Snow, real estate developer; Richard W. Rogers and William A. Montagne, assistant Vice Presidents of Capital Company.

IN A JOINT statement by Edward F. Ryan, chairman of the board, Capital Company and Duffel-Smoot Co., the developers are now in the process of planning the creation of one of the Bay Area's finest residential developments.

It is expected that model homes in a park-like complex of broad green lawns, swimming pool and other recreational facilities will be open for inspection in April of next year.

The property was purchased in 1962 from Utah Construction and Mining Company by Duffel - Smoot Co., and John F. Snow, developer of the new Orinda Village Shopping Center.

The level 23-acre parcel is a portion of the original Moraga Ranch. It is actually in Moraga.

PLANS CALL for a three-quarter acre lagoon surrounded by lawn as a focal point.

Other features include: five swimming pools, separate patios and balconies for each apartment and a unified maintenance arrangement.

The 303 condominum units, planned to sell for an average of $20,000, will be divided into three areas. The trees will be saved.

There was a road to enter and exit from Moraga Highway and Ivy Drive on the original site plan. Duffel estimated that 80 per cent of the traffic would flow from the highway and not further congest Ivy Drive.

Association Elects Six New Directors

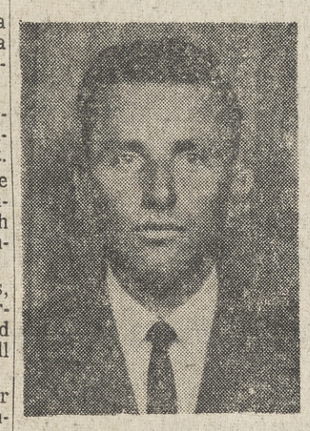
JOHN W. BUCHANAN

WALTON C. JAMES



DAVID McCOSKER

ED VAN KLEECK

FRANK L. BROWN

Six new directors on the nine-man board of the Orinda Association were elected this week. They are as follows:

Charles L. Blue, district 1; John Buchanan, district 3; Walton C. James, district 4; David McCosker, District 5; Ed Van Kleeck, District 6; and Frank L. Brown, district 7.

THE TWO - THIRDS vacancy on the board which occurs with the end of this year is unprecedented in association history.

Directors William Brobeck, Jack Cutter, Harry Fledderman, James Keating and Bruce Hoffe's terms are expiring. They did not run for re-election.

Director A. L. Petersen was transferred out of the area. His unexpired term was not filled as it was so close to election.

RUNNING AGAINST Blue in the Sleepy Hollow area was Percy B. Dawson, Jr.

McCosker's opponents, in the area west of Moraga Way and south of Monteveda, were Donald R. Dunlop and David J. Gordon, Jr.

James defeated Dr. Jerome H. Donchin in the district north of the crossroads and west of Camino Pablo.

BROWN WON in District 6 against Mrs. James V. Burchell.

Ed Van Kleeck was victorious in the Ivy Drive and Inland Valley District over Peter R. Goldschmidt.

Three of the top officers are vacating the board. Fledderman is president; Keating, secretary; and Brobeck, treasurer.

Duffel-Smoot Sued By Designer Freels

Designer Larry L. Freels recently filed suit to dissolve a partnership agreement with Joe B. Smoot and Joseph A. Duffel.

Duffel - Smoot Companies' real estate developments in the area run into millions of dollars.

A few years ago, Freels drew the site plan for the "Moraga Condominium." Construction on this $5 million project began this week.

DUFFEL stated that the lawsuit would be "amicably" settled. He termed it "unfortunate" and believes that Freels was "poorly advised."

Duffel said that it was the first lawsuit in which the company had ever been involved.

Freels asked superior court to adjudicate their respective rights under a 1960 oral agreement whereby he would receive 10 per cent of the profit.

THE COMPLAINT also asks an accounting and an order restraining Duffel - Smoot from "eslling, encumbering or otherwise dealing with any of the property vested in the names of any of the defendants."

In a 1958 agreement, according to Freels, he was to receive 25 per cent of the company's profits in excess of $30,000.

THE COMPLAINT says the defendants agreed last year that they "would unite all of their then existing business activities, including any and all corporations and partnerships in the purchase, development and-or lease of real property, as a partnership between the plaintiff and defendants."

Freels complained that Smoot and Duffel breached the second agreement and asked that the partnership be dissolved "and wound up under supervision of this court."

Freely is represented by Oakland Attorney Robert Burnstein.

Traffic - They Asked & Learned

Commuters were told to speak, to voice and air their views concerning traffic congestion on the tunnel road near Orinda.

They did.

Their questions were answered.

The answers were not always what the commuters wanted to hear, but at least there were answers.

Assemblyman John Knox and a panel of state officials supplied the answers — as best they could.

Traffic problems on Highway 24 near Caldecott tunnel unquestionably exist. But they might be alleviated in the not too distant future.

Hilltop Garden Club Has Busy Holidays

At the last meeting of the Hilltop Garden Club, William Dillon of Ortho Products, gave a very instructive talk on garden care during the dormant season at the home of Mrs. D. T. Kay, 22 Terry Lane.

December 3, members of the club attended the Diablo Tea and Bazaar, where they had entered a table decoration for the Holidays.

555,000 Pieces Of Mail Are Expected Here

The annual race against time at the Orinda post office as its Christmas mail rush went into high gear, Postmaster Laura Mallary noted yesterday.

New reports from Postmaster General John A. Grounouski in Washington indicate an anticipated nationwide record mail volume for this Christmas season of nearly 12 billion pieces during December.

December's outgoing mail volume is expected to total 555,000 pieces, based upon last December's total in Orinda.

"EARLY MAILING gives us time to get gifts and cards in the hands of addresses in good condition with less chance of damage or delay due to human error."

"Our 35 employes need public help to run this race against time—and patrons of the Orinda post office can assist us by shopping and mailing right now and by using the ZIP Code in their return addresses." As well as in any destination addresses which are known to them.

The code number should be placed directly after the name of the State.

"SHOPPING AND mailing early benefits everyone," the postmaster observed. "Customers who buy early get the pick of the Christmas stocks; the local economy is aided by the business activity thus created, and everyone — including the postal service — is happy about the additional time that early mailing allows.

Library Confab for Alice Frederick

Mrs. Alice Frederick, district librarian of the Orinda Schools, is among the participants in the program of the annual conference of the California Library Association in session in San Francisco this week.

Perc S. Brown Memorial Gifts Pour to Library

Memorial gifts amounting to over $2,000 in honor of the late Perc S. Brown, Orinda civic leader, have been received by Friends of the Orinda Library, it was announced this week by William Fleager, president of the Orinda Library Board.

Gifts came from as far away as New York and Seattle as well as from the bay area region.

BROWN, widely-known industrialist and benefactor of the Orinda Library, died in November. He was nationally known for his collection of historical documents and manuscripts.

A rare 1755 edition of Samuel Johnson's Dictionary was Brown's personal gift to the Orinda Library whose building fund drive he headed so successfully.

FUTURE plans tentatively call for an additional room to be added to the resent structure," Fleater stated, "and, "and due to the great interest shown by the general public, it would be a most fiting tribute that such a unit be designated as a memorial in honor of Perc Brown."

Mrs. Ward Ingrim, chairman of the Friends of the Orinda Library, said interested persons may secure memorial envelopes at the Orinda Library and that donations to the Perc Brown Memorial Fund may be sent in care Friends of the Orinda Library, P.O. Box 152, Orinda, California.

Newcomers

Newcomers club of Orinda contacts and provides social and communal activities for new residents of the area. With 241 members now, the club expands almost weekly.

Insurance Honor For Philibosian

Philip M. Philibosian, Chartered Life Underwriter, 220 Camino Sobrante, Orinda, has earned membership in the 1964 Million Dollar Round Table, the life insurance industry's 3,500-member elite international organization of million - dollar - a - year sales producers.

Membership in the select association is limited to members of the National Association of Life Underwriters, or its foreign counterpart, who sell at least one million dollars of new life insurance each year.

Philibosian is an agent for Prudential in Oakland. He first became a member of the Round Table in 1955, and has served the life insurance profession for 10 years. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Oakland-Eastbay Life Underwriters Association.

Even with its growth to approximately 3,500 members this year, the association represents only one per cent of the world's life underwriters.

Santa Is An Indian Giver

The Clark Wallace's home provided the setting for a gala evening of "Olympic games," gift exchanges and a special visit by Santa Claus, who proved to be an "Indian giver."

Occasion was the annual Christmas party for the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce.

First Vice President George Block headed the event. He was assisted by Bob "Santa" Gustafson, Dr. Roland Holt and Russ Boynton.

Santa somehow "managed," after handing out the gifts, to steal away to the North Pole with the evening's choice gifts: a pair of beautiful tropical garden plants.

Jaycees, Committee Look for Man of Year

The annual Orinda Man of the Year Banquet once again is being planned and organized by the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with The Sun.

The four-man committee is busily screening candidates submitted for this year's honor by members of the community. The committee is headed by last year's Man of the Year, Clarence Betz.

ASSISTING BETZ on the committee are Robert Desmond, journalism professor at the University of California at Berkeley and editor of the Orinda News, the Orinda Association organ; Mrs. Joseph Conley, president of the Orinda Beautification Committee; and Len Kully, vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bemiss announces that the affair will take place at Orinda Country Club January 23.

EACH YEAR, The Sun presents a plaque to the honored citizen of Orinda. Several celebrated Bay Area citizens are now being considered for the keynote speaker of the evening.

Window Shopping...

CAN YOU pin-point the precise moment you felt the Christmas Spirit this year? With me, it came when I chanced into the Kaiser Center Lobby to behold the most exquisite idea yet—an empty creche waiting to welcome the birth of Baby Jesus. In the left-hand corner of the lobby, Mary rides the donkey while Joseph walks beside her. Across the way, three regal kings and a royal camel look to the light. Center lobby, the shepherds kneel near the straw-filled manger. It is a very tender & meaningful tribute to the season. To the artist or persons who created it, my personal appreciation & thanks. Don't miss seeing it! Especially with the children.

SANTA CLAUS has come to town alright & we hope Cliff Lowe, the Dramateurs' contribution to the Kris Kringle ranks, fares better than some of his confreres. The Pacifica Santa, for one, landed in the ocean instead of in the middle of the shopping center parking lot & the Elkhart, Ind., Santa was to arrive at a shopping center by parachuting into a field behind the stores, but to the disappointment of awaiting children, got hung up in a 30-foot evergreen tree & had to be rescued by police & firemen.

If it's more Ho-Ho-Ho than dought-dough-$$$ you need these days, try catching the current double-header. "Incredible Journey" & "A Ticklish Affair", the latter a misnomer for one of the funniest, most family-type pix we've seen in eons. At our house we still "crack-up" at the idea it took the whole San Diego Navy, a blimp & a helicopter, etc. to rescue one 5-year-old boy floating aloft w/helium balloons.

CHRISTMAS PORTRAIT: Katy Madsen, Diablo Art Assoc. prexy, worked a full week, dawn to dusk (during the recent WC Co-op's first annvy. celebration) doing dozens of her well-loved "instant portraits" of children. Saturday, 5 p.m. Katy was nearly weepy w/weariness (you know how women get!), when in came her very last subject: "the most beautiful baby boy, clutching a balloon," she reports. "I perked right up, the portrait went awfully well — & when his mother looked at it, SHE exclaimed, brimming over, 'Oh, I think I'm going to cry.' It made cy day," says Katy(beaming). (Note to Katy: "It kinda made mine, too, to hear about it!—mm)

IT'S A first Christmas for the brand new granddaughter of Ernest & Helen Drews . . . She's Linda Marie born Nov. 13 to the Drews' son Carl & wife Gloria who'll have their White Christmas in Virginia & plenty of boy-toys under the trre for 4½-yr.-old Donnie.

More milage on him than the cars that pull into deLaveaga's station is Ned's dog Coco who spends his time retrieving a ball the boys keep throwing down the back hill . . . He's happy as long as he can hang around.

AT Santa Maria Women's Christmas party last Mon. nite, urexy Evelyn Gleason played the role of Santa & you've NEVER seen one like that before — w/whiskers UP to her eyes . . . If you were at the Community Church Women's Guild Christmas luncheon, you DID see The Mary Door looking ADORRable w/a new honey-blonde hairdo. Her own, NOT a wig. The popular former Orindan flew up from Malibu for the sentimental occasion.

SECOND HONEYMOON for the Jim Davisons who attended a Heinz convention in Dallas where Jim's district won the coveted "Pickle Oscar" for first in sales, U.S.A. . . . They did Chicago, visited Nan's hometown of St. Lou & now, via Route 66, will brighten up things in Vegas before coming home to trim their tree.

AT LAFAYETTE Town Hall, Dramateurs prexy Wirtabel Harris accomplished a Labor of Love setting an elegant table for a Committee Chairman's dinner, replete w/silver candleabra, sophisticated Santas & What Ho! V.P. Cliff Lowe gave presents all around: Director Carl Rasmussen, a horsewhip; make-up chairman Elaine Jay Lawson, a mirror; Charlotte Chapple & Perry Palin (Sets & Stage), tape measures & so on into the wondrous night w/the drab drafty downstairs of the Town Hall disguised to look like Ernie's, S.F. , , ,

'Tis the Season...

FROSTY SEASON: Marge Rieger, on her shopping rounds, in a Christmasy-red mink-collared coat . . . The way to accompany the tots to the bus stop on a cold morning: Like Elmarie McCoy does, w/a mug of hot java in hand.

A full page ad in the current Junior League Viewpoint shows Hazel (of Haz'l's Exclusives, NOW of Lafayette Plaza) bearing a marked resemblance to Helen of Troy. The only difference being Our Hazel can also launch a thousand quips; a few hundred or so being heard during the cocktail christening of her new Lafayette store last Friday. Ditto Nan Barich w/a similar ceremony for her "Village Square".

A bargain to beat ALL bargains is the one posted over the trieycles at a super-duper WC chain store; "Regular price—$9.95 — Sale price—$9.91." Who says a nickel isn't worth anything? . . . & the people writing Lucky's ad this week must REALLY be in the spirit of Christmas. There, on the right, look — "Cling PEACES"—which is more timely than the sign in Orinda Motor's window—"Wall nuts. 3 lb. for $1.00) . . . or is it,

Here's a kind of Christmas present for you, a new & interesting place to go. What's more you can take the youngsters along. It's the new "Vin et Fromage" restaurant, tres unique, located at 1556 Solano, Albany . . . It is the joint venture of Marilynne & Robert Blanc of Orinda (she's a musicoclogist; he's chrmn. of the English department Del Valle High, W.C.) & Dean & Jean Williams (he's conductor of the California Symphony & music teacher, she's w/Oakland & Marin Symphony orks). They've established the kind of place THEY'd like to go but couldn't find in the area; "one where we could enjoy good music, wine & cheese in an informal, non-concert atmosphere." The dinner menu, too, is excellent & children are very welcome.

Feature attraction: A string trio on Friday, Saturday & Sunday eves. Other solo & ensemble music (Mon.-Thurs.) incl. classical & flamenco guitar, jazz piano, flute-piano duets & occasional serious folk music. If you get there first, for a holiday treat, save me a seat! (Telephone 525-9916. THEIRS, not mine!)

A Possible Tradition? Oakland Civic Ballet's complete "Hansel & Gretel", a holiday package of magic & fantasy, is the season's offering at California Playhouse, 3440 Foothill Blvd., Oakland, (536-0410). Performance dates are: Matinees—Dec. 22, 23, 26, 29; Evenings—Dec. 27, 28. Adults $1.50; students $1.00.

One of the company's buddingest ballerinas, by the way, is Susan Edgren, daughter of the Robert Edgrens of White Oak Laf. . .

Saaaay . . . does anybody know how to crochet?

AND down at Sprouse-Reitz we were horrified to pick up a dolly's bottle full of what looked like sour milk . . . Ed Amatrone straightened us out. The .39 item, a hot one w/miniature mamas, contains a plastic fluid that disappears as dolly drinks. When dolly's finished guzzling, the crazy bottle fills right up again. Happy shopping!

Phair's advice in their Orinda Store mailing pieces re: SPODE Christmas plates—"Have it gift wrapped so you won't be tempted to keep it for yourself!" Don't you WISH that system really worked?!

A Christmas Collection

CHRISTMAS ornaments collected on the continent are taken from their tissue wrappings to adorn an early tree in the Muth household of William and Mary Jane Luecker.

The treasured and unusual baubles were brought back from Europe by Mary Jane after a residence there before her marriage to Bill, when she taught American School in Paris and at Nuremberg, Germany. Her intenational interests have continued as an Orinda housewife for she has served as chairman of the Orinda Chapter of Americans Abroad for the past 4 years. It is an organization responsible for the ultimate selection of exchange students going abroad on the American Field Service program.

A NATIVE OF Toledo, Mary Jane is a graduate of Illinois University where she met her husband during their campus days. He hails from Evanston, Illinois and claims Northwestern his alma mater.

The tall distinguished Luecker is a member of the board of deacons at the First Presbyterian Church in Oakland. On the business side, he's a manufacturer's agent for swimming pool equipment.

During summer months at Orinda Park Pool where the family are all members, six-year old Charlie shows great promise in the backstroke. And while most 3-year olds are still wearing their water wings, the Luecker's little Kathy is already diving head-first into the deeper waters.

Mother Mary Jane, looking sentimental at the collector's items on the table tree, laughs that it won't be long before both Charlie and Kathy will be diving into other things; Cookie jars, tissue wrappings and all the things that go with Christmas and children in the house.

Br-r-r-r! Frost Arrives

by Yvonne Mauzey
376-4083

Come in and shake the ice off your feet. It is sure cold these days, with frosts and the cold wind, brrr — we are really having winter. Newcomers to our valley wonder if they have moved into a smog or frost belt, for that is all we have had for the past month. This is winter and I guess we should expect some weather, but does it have to go to these extremes?

THE STILLNESS of these cold winter days brings a peace and quiet with them for it is too cold for noisy hubbub of outdoor living. In fact it is just too cold to be out without a purpose. The children who are out are wrapped completely, like a Christmas gift, in bright stockinette caps and scarfs or hooded sweat shirts and mittens.

As each homemaker in her own domain behind closed doors and windows, curls up with a good book, does the housework, baking or mending or whatever is her way of passing a cold dreary winter day.

FOR MYSELF I like to bake on a cold day. The warmth of the oven and the delicious aroma floating through the house penetrating each room. But one can't bake all the time so to curl up with a good book when the housework is done and loose myself in another climate and another part of the country as you follow the main character through the pages, is a choice I would match with having someone drop in on the spur of the moment for a cup of coffee or tea and a time to chat.

PARENT CLUB presents trees to schools — Nearing Christmas time and the lights of the neighborhood are turning one by one, as the wreathes begin to decorate the front doors. Our Parents Club has presented the Rheem and Camino Pablo schools with a Christmas Tree for each. The one at Camino Pablo has been set up in the main hall and the one at Rheem is in the Classroom Hall. I understand the trees will go to a worthy institute when the schools are finished with the trees the 20th, when school is out and still in time for use by the other group.

MATH CONFERENCE in Monterey — Bob Trask, Principal of the Rheem School, informs me he and six other teachers attended the Math Conference at Monterey last weekend. They came back stimulated about the new math program after listening to speakers from all over th U.S. speaking about the benefits of the Modern Math.

THE RHEEM School building is coming along though a little behind schedule because of the weather. They have completed the last part of the underground plumbing and are putting on the roofing and getting ready to pour the flooring soon as the base rock is layed.

Bob Trask informs me last Fridays Teachers Institute day brought about new thoughts and new ideas for changes in the direction of teaching.

NEW ARCHITECTURAL Plan in the Mill — The Architect is busy on the new plans for the third section of the Rheem school, which will include five more classrooms, a music room and a kindergarten room. The building will be the same type of architecture or one that will tie in with the present building.

They are shooting for a September (64) starting date on the future building. Did you know we have been having a 50% increase in each years growth?

The building that is presently being built at the Rheem School, will contain five classrooms and a library. This is the second section. The third section will complete the classrooms section of the school.

Though a multi use section may be built at some future date. Bob says the school will be terriffic!

PAPER DRIVE Results: The Moraga's Parent's Club's second monthly Newspaper and Magazine Drive, held on the last weekend of November, proved more successful than the first drive. Chairman of the Drive, Dewey Mastich, has turned over to the Library Committee a check for $98.73 for the purchase of library books this month. From two monthly drives the library will have $191.23 worth of new books purchased from material that all of us normally throw away. Or have to pay to get rid of.

Dewey and his crew for the month: Al Loux, Don Enos, Warren Allison, Dane Pederson, L. Lund, Ernie Dickson, Jack Matthews, Chris Lestly, did a fine job of providing curbside service to the cars as they drove up to the trailer.

Dewey wants to remind everyone that due to the Christmas holidays there will not be a drive in December. But everyone should keep on saving their newspapers and magazines and bundle them up for the next drive on January 25th and 26th. He hopes that the January drive will not only be a double collection but will be bigger than the first two drives.

Come on lets all add to the collection. Even you neighbors in Orinda and Lafayette are welcome. Just bring your bundles to the Texaco station, corner Moraga Rd. and Rheem Blvd. The truck is waiting, and men are on duty to wait on you. Thanks in advance.

Commuters Demand Help In Traffic Jam

By TOM DOOLEY

Contra Costa County commuters, distraught over traffic congestion in the Caldecott tunnel during peak hours voiced their dissatisfaction and pleaded for an answer to the problem Wednesday night at a meeting with state and local officials.

Representatives of the Division of Highways and the Department of Public Works found themselves "under fire" at the meeting held at Acalanes High School.

ASSEMBLYMAN John Knox attempted to serve as moderator. He learned it was not an easy thing to do when more than 300 irate commuters demand action on a problem that has become increasingly acute.

Senator George Miller and a panel of public works officials from Sacramento joined a group of highway engineers in discussing the traffic congestion problem.

Discussion and questions from the audience were invited. They came rapidly, abruptly, demandingly.

"Commuter's problems are one of Californias biggest headaches," said J. C. Womack, state highway engineer who sat on the panel.

He had no argument on this observation.

Many of the commuters in attendance voiced the opinion that the congestion problem could be partially eliminated by a "reversible lane" operation.

The reversible lane suggestion called for the using of one east-bound lane for west-bound traffic during the peak morning hours when the bulk of the traffic is west-bound through the Caldecott tunnel.

Another phase of the "reversible lane" operation, as suggested by the commuters, called for the use of the same lane in the evening peak traffic hours, only in the opposite direction.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS and representatives from the California Highway Patrol objected to the reversible land operation and claimed that this operation "was dangerous and would not work."

Another suggestion called for one-way traffic through both tunnels and use of alternate routes for the lighter traffic.

No promises of immediate changes in the traffic congestion problem were made at the meeting.

Highway officials, however, did promise to reevaluate and study the problem and the commuters' suggestions.

The officials indicated that the reversible laner operation may be tried in the near future.

F. Nielsen outlined the program and explained how he had brought the commuters' problem to the attention of highway officials.

Pete Goldschmidt, Orinda, head of a commuter's association, explained the congestion problem in detail.

Speaking for the commuters, Goldschmidt offered suggestions which he said could help alleviate the traffic congestion in and around the tunnel.

"JUST GIVE us a two-week trial," said Goldschmidt, referring to the reversible lane operation which he claimed was the only immediate answer.

Answering Goldschmidt was D. J. O'Connell, highway patrol official.

"It is our earnest opinion that a reversible lane operation is not feasible from an operational standpoint, a traffic safety standpoint and a public health standpoint," O'Connell said.

O'CONNELL WAS backed in his answer by Jerry O'Shea and J. E. Wilson, division of highway officials and District 4 traffic engineers.

The traffic officials said one of the main drawbacks to the reversible lane operation is the fact that traffic is forced to cross the double yellow line.

"And this can be disasterous," O'Shea said. He claimed that drivers who cross the double yellow lines are prone to become involved in collisions due to the ensuing confusion.

THE CROWD did not agree with this theorty.

A variety of facts and figures were introduced. Most of them were in regard to traffic movement figures compiled by a traffic survey team from the University of California.

Arguments ensued concerning the figures and the hours the statistics are gained.

Assemblyman Knox attempted to observe parlimen-

FRANK CHAMBERS, a representative from the Governor's office, acknowledged the commuter's problem and said immediate consideration in regard to alleviating the situation will be accomplished.

Some of the commuters cited similar traffic congestion problems in other parts of the United States and they told how these problems had been solved.

Highway officials offered records from the Greyhound Bus Company in an attempt to show that the delay in the normal flow of traffic through the Caldecott tunnel "isn't really that bad."

The commuters refused to be convinced that the problem wasn't accute.

Most of the commuters agreed that the congestion problem has been bad for several years and they unanimously agreed that the situation is getting worse every month.

WITH ONE exception Wednesday night, no definite action action was taken and no promises for immediate changes were made.

The exception came after one woman in the audience complained that the white stripes in the highway were hard to see at night, and particularly when it is raining.

The highway oficials in attendance promised that the white stripes would be re-painted in order for the lines to be more visable.

Commuters in attendance offered suggestions for alternate routes for the lighter lanes of traffic during the peak hours.

Most of the commuter's suggestions were well received by other commuters and Assemblyman Knox and Senator Miller.

County Supervisor Nielsen promised to contact the mayor of Oakland in an attempt to establish a change in parking hours on Broadway, in Oakland, so that traffic moving through the tunnel would have more lanes to travel after leaving the tunnel.

The highway and public works officials acknowledged the problems and the "bottlenecks" of traffic. However, they emphasized that the matter of completing the construction work at the tunnel "should be considered."

The division of highway representatives pointed out that work on the project can only be accomplished during certain hours. They asked the commuters to "take into consideration" the expense and the time factors.

"MONEY DOES not grow on trees," one highway engineer ovserved.

He attempted to convince the crowd that the construction work at the tunnel must be completed, and be completed correctly, and he said this goal was of primary importance.

One commuter called for more extensive driver education in helping to alleviate the "bottleneck" situation.

Another in the crowd questioned the highway engineers' planning.

"SOME OF US doubt our planners. We sometimes wonder how well you're planning," one man said. "Perhaps we should take another look at how you're doing things," he said to the highway engineers.

"I think it is time we started letting bids on this type of a project to the company which can get the mob done the fastest," another man said.

Other persons in the audience critized the fact that some of the construction equipment sits idle for many hours of the day.

Suggestions were offered to the effect that more shifts should be working on the tunnel project. It was noted that the present crews work only "a normal eight-hour day."

HIGHWAY OFFICIALS indicated a lack of money prevented the hiring of more shifts and they also claimed it would be hard for men to work in the tunnel at night.

These statements prompted another outbreak of protests and arguments from the audience.

WHEN THE subject of money and budgets was introduced, Senator Miller offered a statement which brought applause from the crowd:

"With the budget the Department of Public Works has, they should be able to hire men who could figure this problem out!"

It was suggested that a commuter committee be selected to work with the highway department in an attempt to establish immediate relief for the commuters' problem.

"The highway division should take a more positive attitude toward this traffic congestion problem. They should consider commuters as people who are paying their salary," said a voice from the audience.

THE MEETING ended with sincere sounding promises from the highway and public works officials that "Your problems and suggestions will be given every consideration possible — both here and in Sacramento."

BUT MOST of the commuters walked out of the meeting room dissatisfied, judging from the comments overheard in every aisle.

But just before the meeting drew to a close, Assemblyman Knox made a statement which apparently reflected the feelings of all the commuters in attendance:

"We're going to raise holy hell until something is done!"

Countywide TV Setup Eyed by Junior College

"Enthusiastic interest" in the establishment of a countywide educational television station was expressed Monday night by trustees of the Contra Costa Junior College District.

As explained by Karl O. Drexel, director of Diablo Valley College, and Raymond S. Dondero, dean of instruction at Contra Costa College, the county would become the actual licensee, but the station would be operated and used by school districts and various governmental agencies of the county.

THE COUNTY would be required to finance the installation, estimated at $250,000, and to put up annual operating costs rannging from $40,000 to $60,000.

Capital outlay, however, would be reimbursed from state and federal funds, while operating costs would be shared by participating agencies.

Dondero said the college district's share of the latter would amount to about $4,000 a year.

HE SAID the proposal, which is being advanced by the County Board of Education, needed "statement of interest" support from school districts if the county's only remaining television channel allocated for educational purposes was to be preserved for such use.

Such a statement must be made to the Federal Communications Commission by January 3, he said, or the channel may be released to commercial interests. Actual application for the channel by the county probably will not be made for another year, trustees noted.

Flouridation Debates Near End

The technical aspects of a fluoridation program will be the subject of the fourth public hearing discussion meeting on the fluoridation of the local water supply.

The meeting, the last in a series of monthly public meetings scheduled by the Citizens' Advisory Committee of the Treated Water Division, Contra Costa County Water District, will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the multi-use room of College Park High School, 201 Viking Drive, Pleasant Hill.

Chairman Craig Z. Randall said that discussion of the technical aspects of a fluoridation program will include the costs involved, accuracy of control, possibility of overdose, and effects on industrial operations and products.

Proponent speaker will be Dr. Zachary M. Stadt, D.M.D., assistant health officer and director of the Division of Dental Health, Contra Costa County.

Opposing will be Charles Klint, chairman, Fresno Safe Water Committee, and executive director, Pure Water Association of America, Inc., California Committee, Fresno.

Also speaking in opposition will be Walter Miller, research secretary, Pure Water Association of America, Inc., California Committee, Sunnyvale.

Each side will speak for thirty minutes. A question and answer period will follow for those who are water users within the CCCWD service area.

Man Killed On Orinda Dam Road

Claus F. Jensen, 57, 140 Las Vegas Road, Orinda, was killed early Tuesday evening in an auto crash on Camina Pablo north of Santa Maria Way.

According to the Highway Patrol, Jensen was southbound on Camina Pablo when he apparently struck the center curbing, throwing his car out of control. Witnesses reported that the car rolled over four times, crashing into a car driven by Timothy J. Pardine, 17, 26 Marston Road, Orinda. Pardine was not injured.

Jensen was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital at Walnut Creek where he was listed as "dead on arrival."

Atomic Energy Merit Badge Now Available

The Mt. Diablo Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced today that all Second and First Class Boy Scouts and Explorers are now eligible to earn the Atomic Energy merit badge — the 105th in the series.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, himself a former Life Scout, with 25 merit badges, (and former member of Committee of Troop 223, Lafayette), took four states who were the first to qualify for the new merit badge.

REQUIREMENTS for the new Atomic Energy merit badge were developed by a committee of experts who began work on them in 1957 following a presentation of proposed requirements for such a badge by Troop 224 at the Meridian District Exposition, Acalanes High School, Lafayette. The requirements allow a Scout to demonstrate the concepts of atomic energy by doing simple projects.

The first part of the requirements includes questions on terminology, atomic structure, isotopes, fission, historical contributions by scientists and radiation protection.

THE SECOND part is designed for scouts who could not borrow or build a Geiger counter and includes building and explaining a model of a nuclear reactor, an experiment in sheilding theory using light and heat and a field visit to a medical user of X-Ray.

The final requirements are developed around the use of a Geiger counter and include experiments on the general theory of the Geiger counter as a detector, on shielding and on tracers.

Standard Oil Makes Property Tax Payment

A check for more than $225,000,000 was recently delivered to Contra Costa County by Standard Oil Company of California, the first installment on the company's 1963-64 property tax bill.

The payment was made to Emmett Hitchcock, tax collector at Martinez, by L. D. Hall, district sales manager.

HALL SAID Standard's total tax commitment to the county this year of more than $450,000,000 is more than $300,000 above last year's payment.

In addition, a first installment check of $675,994 was delivered to the City of Richmond on Standard's tax bill there of $1,333,000, Hall said.

Tax officials said funds paid by Standard during the current fiscal year will be spent for general county-wide purposes and for the support of Richmond Union High School Richmond Elementary School, Contra Costa Junior College, East Bay Municipal Utility District and West Contra Hospital and for the city of Richmond.

Real Estate Petition Opposed by Council

Seymour Rose, Chairman of the Jewish Community Relations Council of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties recently announced that the board of his organization, "after a great deal of study," opposes the initiative proposal regarding property rights being advanced by the California Real Estate Association and the Apartment House Association.

ROSE POINTED out that the organizations study was not based on the pros and cons of the Rumford Act, but rather on the merits of the initiative proposal itself.

He said his organization "believes in the inalienable right of all men to acquire possessions and enjoy property."

"However, we further believe that while this right is inalienable, it is not absolute and that the state has the right to legislate concerning the use and disposal of property to promote the welfare of society," Rose emphasized.

"THE INITIATIVE proposal which is being advanceed would introduce a concept of absolute right of disposal of property which the members of our group believe to be foreign to both Federal and state Constitutional law," Rose said.

"We further believe that the legislature has found that discrimination in housing disrupts the peace of the community; and therefore the state has the right to place reasonable restriction upon the right of use and disposition of property. If this initiative amendment passes, the state would be denied this right. We are opposed to any such limit of the state's authority," Rose continued.

"We further believe that the Rumford Bill should be given a fair chance to operate and we sincerely hope that the California Real Estate Association and the Apartment House Association will reconsider the actions they are taking and drop their campaign to secure the necessary signatures to place the intiative proposal on the ballot," Rose concluded.

Mt. Diablo Chapter Takes Stand On Fair Housing Act

A resolution concerning the initiative petition of the California Real Estate Association was recently adopted by the board of directors of the Mt. Diablo chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Text of the resolution by the 2-member board of directors who met Sunday at Walnut Creek was:

"WHILE RECOGNIZING the right of the board of directors of the California Real Estate Association to sponsor an initiative petition, the board of directors of the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union urges the public to exercise their equal rights to withhold their signatures from the petitions.

The board feels that in the absence of such a law as the Rumford Act, experience has shown that certain minority groups have in fact been denied by reason of race alone the right to live where they choose."

MT. DIABLO chapter chairman, Rev. Lester Kinsolving, Pittsburg, named the following to head standing committees of the board of directors: Albert Bertani, Walnut Creek, Jean Jonas, Lafayette, Dr. Robert Suczek, Lafayette, Harry Stylos, Walnut Creek.

Board Tackles Reapportioning

With the dismissal of a complaint by Lafayette Attorney Harold E. Mutnick charging them with contempt of court in connection with reapportioning the county's five supervisorial districts behind them, members of the county board took time Tuesday to discuss the problem.

Two plans were presented, one a combination of proposals submitted by three supervisors — Thomas Coll, Edmund A. Linscheid and Mel Nielsen—and a citizens' committee and the other a suggestion by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

UNDER THE combination plan District I, including Richmond and El Cerrito, would have 94,000 persons or 23 per cent of the county's population; District II, Kensington, North Richmond, San Pablo, Rodeo, El Sobrante, Hercules and some rural areas, 72,000 or 17 per cent; District III, Martinez, Orinda, Lafayette, Alamo, Danville, San Ramon, Crockett and Morago, 73,000 or 18 per cent; District IV, Concord, Pleasant Hill, Walnut Creek, Pacheco, Avon and Mt. Diablo, 106,000 or 26 per cent; and District V the eastern area of the county, 64,000 or 16 per cent.

Under McBrien's plan populations and percentages would be as follows: I, 146,000, 35 per cent; II, 79,000, 19 per cent; III, 74,000, 18 per cent; IV, 63,000, 16 per cent; and V, 47,000, 12 per cent.

WITH THIS PLAN the district numbers would we somewhat rearranged, the principal changes being that IV would take in the eastern part of the county and V would run from Walnut Creek to the Alameda County line. All population figures are based on the 1960 census figures which show a total county population of 409,000.

Following a short general discussion of the two plans the board decided to take the matter under considerzation until the December 31 meeting.

IN TURNING DOWN Mutnick's complaint against the board on Monday, Superior Court Judge David E. Bush, Stanislaus County, sitting in Martinez, ruled that the board had not failed to act in a reasonable length of time on the reapportionment problem.

Representing the board at the proceedings, District Attorney John Nejedly pointed out that the board had held hearings and discussions on the problem and was in fact at work at trying to arrive at a solution.

After the decision was handed down, Mutnick indicated that, in view of the fact that his complaint was rejected "without prejudice" he would exercise his right to file a new complaint in the future if the board failed to act "in a few weeks."

DEL VALLE DOINGS

Rooting Section Trophy Won by Del Valle High

By BARBARA BADHAM

THE COVETED Foothill League's Sportsmanship Trophy (for the most outstanding rooting section of the football section as judged by the opponents) is Del Valle's newest and one of her most prized possessions. The Trojans have not captured the Trophy for football season previously although we have won it during basketball for both of the seasons we competed. Del Valle students are very pleased and proud of this new addition to the trophy case. Congratulations to all the league teams who have exhibited the fine are of sportsmanship — a very important facet of every contest.

In a surprise assembly on Wednesday, November 27 (the secret was very well concealed from us all!), the Student Body President and Head Yell Leader of San Ramon High came to present the trophy to the Del Valle Student Body. Accepting the award were the following student leaders: Mark Silverman, student body president; Marty Knecht, head yell leader; Kadi Anderson, head song leader; Chrys Ennor, rally commissioner; Vic Shellenberg and Rich Bartlett, varsity team co-captains; and Pep Club officers Norm Spencer, Michele Tressler, Pat Low, and Kathy Anderson. A big vote of thanks goes to all the faculty advisors who helped us in so many ways — especially cheerleader advisor Evelyn Bachelor, Ilium advisirs Edith Rice, Jack Howard, and Robert Ehrlich, and all the coaches. And a big CONGRATULATIONS to every cooperating, white-wearing, yelling, enthusiastic rooter who helped make this victory possible.

LAST FRIDAY another great honor of equal importance came to Del Valle when cans of food brought by students for needy families and senior citizens in Contra Costa County weighed in for a total of 1044 pounds. The Canned Food Drive was held in competition with Las Lomas and sponsored by the Student Council. All sorts of promotion gimmicks were carried out by Marty Knecht who organized the Del Valle campaign. Several students volunteered their Friday afternoon to weigh and transport the food to the Volunteer Bureau. A trophy will be presented at the Del Valle-Las Lomas basketball game on January 10. Both schools put great zeal and enthusiasm into this cause. Las Lomas gathered a total of 1018 pounds of cans — just 26 pounds less. Scholastics, athletics, sportsmanship, community service — all these are important to a well-rounded high school career. Del Valle excels in each.

BASKETBALL SEASON IS HERE: And the Trojans celebrated the occasion with an impressive 46-39 win over a taller and more experienced Clayton Valley five. Captain Vic Shellenberg led all scorers with 13 points and Dave Sargent's fine assistance helped in the clutch. Big contributions to the victory were also given by the defensive work of Barry Wilk and Joel Narva and the rebounding of Doug Swanson, Bruce Black, and Scott Smith. The Trojan five met College Park on the local court Tuesday and last night, tonight, and tomorrow night will entertain several temas in the second annual Invitational Tournament under the direction of the Letter Club.

The J. V. basketball team lost its game by three points, but the Frosh team carried out a 26-20 win over Park Junior High School in Antioch. Jim Muther turned in an outstanding offensive performance in the latter match, collecting 16 points.

THE DEL VALLE WRESTLING team downed Skyline High School Friday. The Varsity scored a 33-15 margin while the Junior Varsity won 30-16. Outstanding were Nevin Cavero, Greg Smith, Bill Kennedy, Barry Melgreen, Dave Hinds, John Schofield, Gary Keller, and Kenn Roberts. Tuesday night the student body and faculty were invited to a program as guests of the Wrestlers. Discussion of wrestling, demonstrations, and some matches were part of the program.

The first open Student Council meeting will be held today during an extended lunch hour. Topic of discussion will be a petition asking that attendance at rallies be made optional. The meeting will be a special Student Council meeting exactly like the others except that any interested student will be aole to observe and ask questions or offer comments. The observers will not, however, have a vote.

Muir Hospital Group Elects, Hears Reports

sun. all 2-24 muir hospital.d

Arthur M. Flint, Orinda, and Carl Merner and Edson O. Sessions, Lafayette, were elected to serve four year terms on the John Muir Hospital board of trustees at the recent annual meeting of the group.

Eugene C. Harter, Orinda, and Frank Marshall and John Nejedly, Walnut Creek, were re-elected. Alfred B. Layton, Diablo, will continue as chairman of the board for 1964 with Nejedly as vice-chairman, Mrs. Frank E. Yount, Walnut Creek, secretary, and Antone Cvietusa, Walnut Creek, treasurer.

OTHER BOARD members, working with various committees, include Fred Ackerman, M.D.; Fred Hanson, M.D.; DeWitt Krueger, Mrs. Frank T. Malley, Sherwood B. Marshall, William H. Mordy, Dana Murdock, John Osmundsen, H. V. Worthington, David Zuckerman and Mrs. John Hutch, who as president of the Women's Auxiliary serves in ex officio capacity with a vote.

At the annual meeting Layton announced that as of October 31, total contributions to the non profit community hospital amounted to $560,482 in approximately 4,000 donations of cash and pledges. Only 10 per cent of this total is still in the form of pledges receivable, he says.

"Considering the population of the communities the hospital will serve is well over 50,000, it is apparent that there are many residents who have yet to contribute," Layton remarked.

IN THE recent campaign for the pneumatic tube system and other equipment, $44,282 was received, in 353 gifts, of which five were from clubs and associations, 63 from corporations and businesses, and 228 from individuals.

Total financial requirements are $4.3 million, of which all funds now have been provided except the last $60,000 needed to complete equipping the hospital, Layton anmnounces. Contributions, whi are tax deductible, may be sent to the hospital office at 1361 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, and are still being accepted in pledge form.

CHRISTMAS cards on sale to benefit the hospital building fund picture the hospital with Mount Diablo in the background, in a watercolor by Marie MacDonnell Roberts, A.W.S. The cards are available in any amount from the hospital office, Mrs. Frank Young, or any John Muir Memorial Hospital Auxiliary member.

A substantial increase in fixed assets during the last year is shown by comparative balance sheets. This reflects use of cash and paid pledges for hospital construction, Layton explained in releasing these figures:

Year ending October 31, 1963: Cash on hand, $9,104; pledges receivable, $55,738; fixed assets (site, architectural and engineering fees paid, equipment, construction to date), $697,369; total assets, $762,211; liabilities, $53,378; net worth $708,833.

Previous year ending October 31 1962: Cash on hand, $254,651; pledges receivable, $123,651; fixed assets, $93,168; total assets, $471,256; liabilities $21,447; net worth, $449-809.

Hospital construction is expected to be completed on schedule, March, 1965, by James C. Roberts Company of Oakland, who were awarded the contract. Currently construction is four to six weeks behind schedule because of beginning delay by April rains, but the contractor expects to make this up.

Board Renames Park In Honor of Kennedy

A RESOLUTION, introduced by Supervisor James Kenny to rename the 95-acre Eucalyptus Grove near the San Pablo Reservoir, "John Fitzgerald Kennedy Grove", was passed unanimously by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The resolution calls for a permanent plaque to be placed in the park "so inscribed as to reflect the feelings of all the people of Contra Costa on the passing of John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Locacted immediately below the dam at the reservoir. the parcel of land was purchased in September for $135,000. While it was intended to use it for a special youth day camp program, County Parks Director Duane Mattison pointen out that its development possibilities are unlimited.

AN ADDITIONAL 19 social workers will be added to the staff of County Social Service Director W. G. Golden as a result of action by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The additional personnel will be needed to implement the program required by the state to provide aid to families of fathers who are unemployed. It is estimated that it will cost the county about $30,000 irom the first of the year until June 30. The state will pay approximately $40,000 in salaries.

The program goes into effect February 1 with full operation scheduled for 1967. At that time it will be necessary to increase the social welfare staff almost 100 per cent, according to Golden.

ROBERT L. CONDON of the Martinez Employes Assocication charged this week before the Martinez Civil Service Commission that the city police department, in using nine police volunteers is guilty of employing "scab labor."

He claimed that the use of the volunteers at a pay rate of $2 an hour undercuts the wages of regular police officers and deprives them of overtime. Each of the volunteers works one full shift a week.

No action was taken by the commission but it was agreed that the issue would be placed on the city council's agenda this coming week.

A DESCENDENT of original Spanish settlers in the area, Mrs. Jovita Castro Fitzgerald, 82, Berkeley, died this week after a long illness.

Space Age Refinery Has Anniversary

Avon Refinery observed its golden anniversary, yesterday. It was highlighted by a tour of the refinery and dinner at the Concord Inn for 50 county civic and business leaders.

Fifty years ago the refinery was built, beginning full operations in December 1913 as a 10,000-barrell-a-day plant run by few more than 200 employees.

Today Tidewater Oil Company's 135,000-barrel-a-day Avon Refinery is one of the largest, most modern, most efficient and best known oil refineries in the world. It has 1200 employees.

AVON—the space age refinery — manufactures hundreds of products, including the rocket fuel which has been used in launching America's astronauts into orbit from Cape Kennedy (Canaveral). Other products of the refinery range from familiar Flying A gasolines to jet fuel to motor oil to greases to weed killers to a variety of specialty products.

The modernity of Avon Refinery is exemplified by completion this year of the world's largest Isocracking complex, which employes the oil industry's newest refining process, hydrocracking. By adding hydrogen, Isocracking upgrades lower - value products into blending stocks for highest quality gasolines, yielding 120 barrels or more of high-octane gasoline blending stocks and butane for every 100 barrels of heavier liquids charged to the complex.

AVON'S UNIQUE combination of fluid coking, fluid catalytic cracking, alkylation and Isocracking provides over 30 per cent more gasoline per barrel of the type of crude oil charged than is possible with other refining processes.

The $20-million, 20,000-barrel - a - day Isocracking complex contrasts sharply with the 1913 refinery, a 10,000-barrel-a-day facility which cost $725,000.

Over the years, the refinery's milestones were many, including, in 1926, America's first solvent treating plant added to produce highest quality kerosene and lubricating oils.

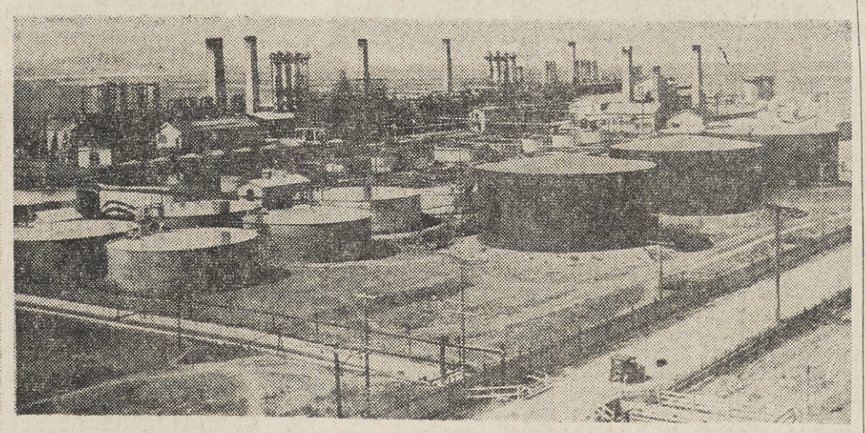
CHIEF PRODUCT of the refinery is gasoline. Avon pioneered the introduction of ethyl gasoline in the West in 1926; brought out aviation ethyl, a motor fuel similar to aviation gasoline, in 1935; and making the West's first gasoline over 100 octane in 1958.

During World War II, Avon was a principal supplier of aviation gasoline for Allied forces in the Pacific. This was made possible by completion in 1940 of an alkylation plant to make the basic component of 100-octane avgas and completion in 1944 of a fluid catalytic cracking plant, then the largest in the world.

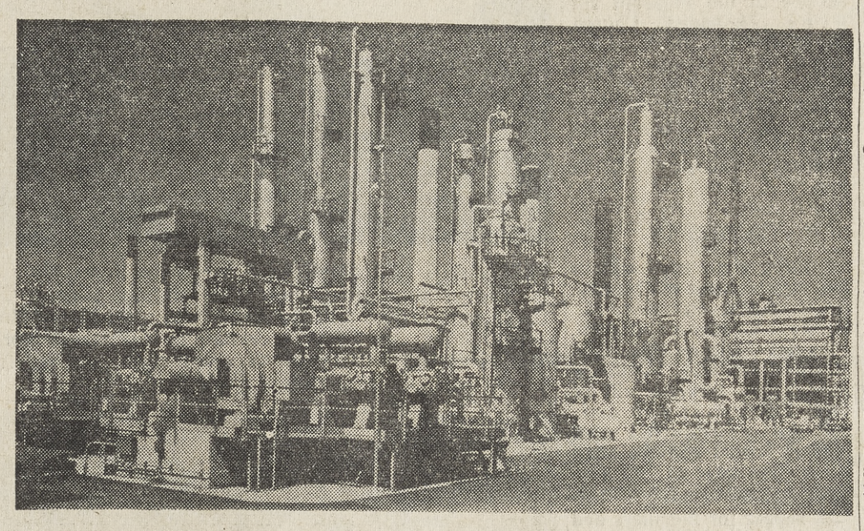
IN 1955 the world's largest fluid coker went "on stream" at Avon. The coker and its twin at Tidewater's Delaware Refinery are still the largest such units in the world.

In addition to completion of the Isocracking complex in the golden anniversary year of 1963, Avon Refinery also completed a $9-million program of building air pollution control equipment and launched a $3.5-million expansion.

AVON REFINERY made the RP-1 rocket fuel which helped launch Scott Carpenter (above) and other American astronauts into orbit from Cape Kennedy (then Canaveral).



AVON BEFORE—This is how Avon Refinery looked on September 26, 1921, eight years after the initial facilities were completed in December 1913. This view looks northwest.



AVON AFTER—This single refining complex alone has twice the refining capacity that the entire Avon Refinery had on its completion in 1913. Dedicated last June, this is Avon's Isocracking complex, largest in the world. The Isocracking plant cost $20-million, compared with $725,000 for the entire 1913 refinery.

Land Property Suit Filed

By ROSELLE ANDERSON

A cross-complaint has been filed here involving loans totalling $2,647,000 and 136 lots in a Concord subdivision called "Mountain View Homes."

A breach of contract suit was filed June 24 by Associated Investment and Mortgage Company against builder Ray Payton of Alameda County, alleging $134,000 damages regarding a contract for loans on the subdivision. It is bounded on the north by Arnold Hiway and on the east by Port Chicacgo Hiway.

Payton and his wife, Rebecca, cross-complained against Associated, Invest-Rite Inc., Lester L. Brown, Lois C. Brown, Barbara Voiss, Dianne Schultz and C. R. Jernberg Jr.

The Paytons allege that Lois Brown, Voiss and Schultz are directors and officers of the Associated and Invest-Rite, that Lester Brown and Jernberg dominate and influence and control the firms and that the firms are frameworks which Brown and Jernberg use as a conduit for personal business.

It is further alleged by the Paytons that the cross defendants have asquiesced in the actions, that no stock has been issued, that the corporations are under-capitalized and that regular directors meetings and shareholders meetings have not been held.

The Paytons claim that on January 9, 1963 a written contract was entered into which provided that the Paytons pay brokerage fees in return for obtaining loans and financing the project.

It is alleged that the cross-defendants didn't obtain financing, didn't act in their best interests and endangered the projects by delay.

It is further alleged that the cross-defendants have attempted to obtain the Payton's rights to the Concord project, and that the Paytons through legal actions have been injured in their business reputation and their financial condition jeopardized.

The Paytons also claim that it was mutually agreed last March that the contract for brokers fees be rescinded, before any alleged breach of contract ensued.

They claim actions to secure rights to the subdivision were done wilfully and with intent to injure heir business reputation.

Art Center Sponsors Print Show

The Valley Art Center of Lafayette will sponsor an exhibition of modern Japanese Prints featuring the works of artists from the Yoseido Gallery in Tokyo which will open Sunday at Kaiser Center in Oakland.

At 4 p.m. on opening day Hodaka Yoshida, winner of a first prize at the 1958 International Exposition, Lugano, Switzerland, will demonstrate all the steps of making of an original print. The process will take about two hours. There will be a short intermission at each 30 minute period.

Chairman of the show, Michael Czaja of Walnut Creek, has enthusiastically praised the exhibit:

"The quality of the new wood-block print in Japan is international, poetic, and experimental. The influence of Western ideas of composition and subject matter especially from the field of oil painting, the techiniques of etching and lithograph, and the artists acceptance of control of carving, printing and design are here assimilated into a new Japanese character," he stated.

Before and after the Sunday show Yoshida will be honored by Bay Area print collectors at several parties.

Shortly after his arrival from New York he will be guest of honor at an afternoon tea tomorrow at the Lafayette Happy Valley home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ward.

The guest list of the Richard Wards includes Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Cardin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tryon, and Dr. and Mrs. John Ellis, all from Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Czaja of Walnut Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klemmedsen of Orinda. Klemmendsen of signed the Ward home complete with Japanese garden and tea house and a setting for their fine collection of Japanese objects of art); Mr. and Mrs. Henry Matsutani of Concord.

LOADING UP — Members of the Valley Art Center busily load Japanese prints to be displayed in the show at Kaiser Center in Oakland. Mrs. William Wilkerson (left) hands a print to Michael Czaja while Mrs. William Zion waits for assistance.

Try A Varmit Gun For Your Favorite Sport!

By HEC HANCOCK

"Now what I want you to do", the boss was saying, "is to check the local emporiums for some exotic Christmas ideas for the sportsman. You know, just like the big glossy magazines."

With that he muttered, "On Dancer, On Prancer, and was off in a flash.

He sure acts goofy this time of year.

But being a dutiful sort, I took off in quest of ideas for the sportsman's stocking.

MY FIRST stop turned out to be Simon's Co. in Walnut Creek. Sidling up to the gun department, I explained my problem to the amiable manager of the department, Al Couch.

Al sized my problem, and had a suggestion forwith.

"How about a Remington XP 100 Varmit pistol?"

"What do you have in mind as varmits?" I countered suspiciously.

"Oh, you know, jack rabbits, small game, and such," replied Couch putting me at ease. For a minute I thought this guy had my four kids in mind.

THE XP 100 fires a .221 caliber cartridge. It is accurate up to 150 yards, a much greater distance than a hand piece normally can handle. The piece has a muzzle velocity of 3600 feet per second.

The gun is a single shot, and has the same bolt action as on the Remington rifles. TThe gun has a very definite futuristic appearance.

Another new piece is the Ruger Super Blackhawk .44 magnum pistol. What a canon this is! Teamed with this item, is the Ruger .44 magnum brush rifle.

Couch explained that this was a great gun to hunt wild boar in the Monterey area.

I HAD NO idea anybody wanted to hunt them, I've always just wanted to stay away from them.

Then the genial manager brought out a real grabber.

Plastic cartridges that really fire. Available in whatever caliber you desire, firing caps can be inserted. The plastic bullets can then be fired 35 feet or so. They will pierce a paper target, but won't cause any property damage.

A real errific deal for the average guy strapped for space to install a home shooting range.

While on this subject Larry Freeman demonstrated how effective the reloaders are. Available for a capital outlay of $49.50 up, the re-loaders enable shooters to save over half on their ammunition.

STROLLING through the store we spotted a real unusual item. Real authentic fencing equipment.

Now, seriously, this is a great idea. Just think of the exercise, the grace, the poise you could develop.

Think of the shish kabobs.

Figuring to get back on more familiar ground, I dropped by Sports and Games in Walnut Creek to see what the latest with skiers was.

ONE THING that caught my eye was the recent shipment of botas. This ancient inovation of the Basque makes it practical to carry your potables with you while skiing (that's what they say in the glossy magazines!

You know, like if you need to build your courage.

And then there's buckle boots. No more lacing, just snap, snap, and you're ready for the slopes.

Kastinger, an Austrian boot, now has a new model available.

JUST THINK of the times you've nearly blacked out when you raised up from putting these infernal boots on.

As the cage contenders of the Foothill Athletic League go through their practice paces, basketball tournaments will be the next item of agenda.

Miramonte, sporting a 3-0 record will be competing in the Mid-Valley Classic at Clayton Valley High over the weekend. Del Valle host it's Invitational, with Acalanes included. Las Lomas will participate in the Amador Valley Tourney. Piedmont, on the other side of the hill, will journey to Healdsburg to represent the FAL in the Redwood Tournament.

During the past week, play in the FAL was marked by a number of closely contested games.

LAS LOMAS got action underway last week, dropping a close decision, 45-41, to undefeated Oakland High.

The rapidly improving Knights stayed right on the tail of the Wildcats all the way down to the wire. Trailing by a point most of the way, the Knights managed to tie the score up with less than a minute left. However, Oakland hit on two free throws and a field goal in the closing seconds, while the Knights failed to capitalize on a couple of scoring chances.

Steve Michelson led the Knight scorers with 15. Steve Guy netted 10, and Daryl Razzano accounted for eight.

The Knights will meet Albany in the opening game of the Amador Valley Tourney. The Cougars are the defending tournament and DVAL champions, and have their entire club back from last year.

KNIGHT mentor, Jim Webster, reports that his club is making progress and feels that the Albany game will be an excellent test.

San Ramon split a pair during the past week. Last Saturday evening, they edged a persistent Salesian High of Richmond, 54-51. On Tuesday the Wolfpack suffered their first defeat at the han of Clayton Valley, 72-51.

Against the Salesian quint, Pat Ozenne paced the Lobo scoring with an output of 17 points. Larry Becker and Chuck Fereira backed him up, each racking up 14 points.

In the losing effort against Clayton Valley, Fereira and Ron McLaughlin poured in 18 tallies each.

...By Hec!

This is smorgasbord weekend for the local basketball devotees.

With two basketball tournaments in his backyard to choose from, he'll be able to see outstanding prep cage teams from throughout Northern California.

The Mid-Valley Classic being played at the Clayton Valley High School gym, is more of a local affair. The entry list is comprised of six teams of the Contra Costa Division of the DVAL. Augmenting this group are Miramonte and St. Mary's High of Berkeley. Both are excellent representatives and should spice the tourney.

OVER AT DEL VALLE, the Del Valle Invitational Tournament is in full sway. Billed as the second annual playing, in reality, this marks the first playing on a full tournament basis.

Coach Doug Pedersen of Del Valle has labored long and hard to make this one of the best of such events. To this end, he has invited teams from throughout Northern California.

"We wanted to get clubs that wouldn't normally face each other in the regular course of the season," explains Pedersen.

By attracting teams such as Vacaville, Davis and Vallejo he has clubs that have enjoyed good success over the years as baskeball powers. From the Eastbay, Skyline and De Anza are excellent representatives. Balboa adds an entry from the San Francisco AAA, a league that is seldom seen in this area.

IT WAS JUST a few weeks ago, that we were lamenting in this spacec as to how great it would be to have football teams of the various areas meet so as to provide some sort of yardstick on the relative caliber of ball played locally.

Under the comparatively short season played by the gridders this isn't possible. However, the cagers with a longer and more flexible season can easily accomplish this.

These conclaves are very similar to the Tourament of Champions that tops off the cage season each spring. Not that the caliber of ball is that high. I mean in the mechanics.

To a degree the same sort of carnival spirit can be generated.

IN THIS RESPECT, the selection of the teams from a geographic point of view was real good. All the entries are close enough that each club should have the support of active and vocal rooting sections.

Aside from the obvious spectator advantages, the meetings are an excellent experience for the participants.

The youngsters get to see some new vistas, and play against new teams.

Along these lines, we're exporting Casaba teams too. Las Lomas will play in the Amador Valley Tourney.

PLEASANT HILL, next weekend will spend the weekend in Sonora, playing a doubleheader against two local clubs.

All in all the prospects for an entertaining weekend are excellent. And you can enhance those prospects by looking in on these casaba clambakes.

I'll even give you the two tourney winners.

Skyline and College Park.

Ski Lines

The outlook for skiing this weekend? In a word. GREAT!

The storm early this week dumped about two feet of powder snow on the grateful Sierra and removed the gnawing doubt that was beginning to grow as to the chances of the pack stretching through the Holidays.

Now a merry, and-white-Christmas is assured the growing hordes of Northern California skiers.

ALL RESORTS are reporting top conditions.

Alpine Meadows, Shasta, Sugar Bowl, Heavenly Valley, Squaw Valley and Reno are now operating on a daily basis.

The reaction of the resort operators to the recent storm was exemplified at Alpine Meadows:

After measuring more than 18 inches of new powder snow on a nearly 3 ft. pack by Monday morning, Manager Tim Sullivan at once announced plans for a fullsome Christmas holiday program.

"Ullr (god of skiers) really has smiled on us," said Tim. "We didn't get any good snow till late February last year. It looks like we'll get a lot more snow this week. But even if it stops right now, we've still got enough to see us through the first of the year."

Throughout the holidays, daily races will be held for youngsters, and the apres-ski hours will be brightened by the appearance of Santa Claus.

Sullivan pointed out that families planning to ski during the holidays should make reservations at once, for the lodges around Tahoe City are fast filling.

A fondu party will be held at the Alpine Meadows Lodge at 4 p.m. each Saturday and Sunday throughout the remainder of the season. It will be presided over by Tiny Mercer, Alpine's ebullient 255-pound chef who headed the commissary at Olympic Village during the 1960 Winter Games.

Skiers can get the word or the latest conditions at Heavenly Valley by telephoning the Far West Ski Association's Snow Report at YUkon 6-6290. Information is received by the FWSA every morning from Heavenly Valley.

Some do's and don'ts on ski safety.

The first step in accident prevention is to get into sturdy physical condition and stay that way. Before the skiing season starts, loosen up your leg and thigh muscles. Trot and jog awhile each day. When you walk, take long strides with a definite kick-off on slightly bent legs. Other sports, such as swimming, and water skiing, will contribute to the strength and flexibility of your arms, shoulders, and legs.

DURING the season, spend 10 minutes a day in deep knee bends, waist bends, and a few pushups. Walking on tiptoe is good exercise for the ankles. To develop the thighs, sit on the edge of a table and straighten the legs slowly. When you are able to extend the legs without their trembling, add two pounds of weight on each foot and continue the exercise.

Vik Grapplers Subdue Oakland For Fourth Win

Diablo Valley College's mat men won their opening Golden Gate Conference match Tuesday by pinning a 19-17 loss on Oakland City College at Oakland.

It was the fourth straight win for the Viking grapplers, keeping them undefeated this season.

Dave Bruce and Ron Matheson paved the way for the win by pinning their opponents early in the match.

Coach Ernie Cecaci's wrestlers went into the final round tied with OCC with five matches but had an edge in falls 2-1 to clinch the victory.

Ron Matheson and Jeff Davis of Diablo Valley College's wrestling team won first place honors at the San Mateo Invitational wrestling Tournament last Sat.

DVC Cagers Seek To Snap Losing Streak Tonight

Cold shooting Diablo Valley College will try and snap a two game losing streak tonight against Cabrillo College at 8 p.m. in Concord. DVC dropped their fourth non-league contest to Menlo College 75-54 Saturday night at Menlo.

Butch Rounsaville in his basketball debut, tanked nine points and 6-3 center Bill Hood pumped in 15 to help the Vikings stage an explosive second half, seeing the Vikes score 42 points.

Bob Nichols and Lanc Luntz did the most damage, connecting for 18 points apiece, to the visiting Vikes.

The impotent Vike Five hit for their season two of 23 percent from the floor but continued their high percentage at the charity line, swishing 14 of 19 for 74 percent. Menlo had a 41 percent field goal average and potted 17 of 25 free throws for 68 percent. Each team had 35 rebounds.

WC Winter Club Skaters Bring Home Gold Medal

Paced by Christine Simon and Elwyn Kelsey who captured a gold medal, the Walnut Creek Winner Club contingent fared very well in the 1964 Pacific Coast Figure Skating championships conducted last week-end at Burbank.

FIRST PLACE Gold Medals were awarded to Christine Simon and Elwyn Kelsey in senior pairs. They are 1963 Pacific Coast Junior Pair Champions, 1964 Central Pacific Senior Pair Champions and now 1964 Pacific Coast Senior Pair Champions.

They will now go on to Cleveland, Ohio, in January to compete in the National Competitions.

Christine is a sophomore at Ygnacio Valley High School and Elwyn is a senior at Pleasant Hill High. They have been skating together for 3 years and have worked tirelessly to perfect their program.

THEIR INSTRUCTOR is Mrs. Hope Anderson Cuny of Lafayette, formerly of St. Moritz Club and of the teaching staff at the W.C. Ice Rink.

Third Place Bronze Medal winner in junior ladies was Miss Charlene McLaren, a senior at Las Lomas High School. Charlene won second place in Junior Ladies at the qualifying Central Pacific Competition held in November at Berkeley. Charlene will also go to Nationals in January.

THE FREE-STYLE program counts 40 per cent and Charlene skated a beautifully executed program to win 3rd place and the opportunity to go on to National recognition. Her coach is Neil Rose.

Second Place in Junior Mens Class went to Mr. Barry Munns, a junior at Ygna-1963 and 1964 Central Pacific Junior Mens Champion, has been skating for six years. This will be his first year in National competition.

SHARON SMITH, 14, a freshman at Del Valle High School was 5th place winner in Novice Ladies. She is 1963 Central Pacific Pre-Novice Ladies Champion and at the 1964 Central Pacific Competition won 2 medals for 3rd place in Novice Ladies and 3rd place in Junior Pairs with her partner, Bob Yunk.

Skyline, De Anza Tabbed Slight Favorites At Start

As the Del Valle Invitational Tournament prepares to resume play this afternoon, the winner of the De Anzq-Skyline contest is generally accorded the favorites role.

The winner of that fray will clash this evening in the feature event against the victor of the Acalanes-Vacaville game.

In the lower bracket, the winner of the Del Valle-Davis game will go against the Vallejo-Balboa victor.

LOSERS IN the first round will meet this afternoon in a consolation round.

Results of yesterday weren't known at presstime.

This year marks the second playing of the Del Valle event. Last year, play was confined to just a double header, and a winner wasn't declared. Thus this year marks the first time on a full bloomed tournament basis.

Coming into the event, Skyline High of Oakland had complied the most impressive record. Under the guidance of their new coach, George Polles, Skyline has gotten off to a fast start. They have four of their starting five back from last year, including their entire front line.

In addition, they are blessed with good size, having some 6-4 boys with substantial girth.

De ANZA of the Alameda Athletic League has also indicated they have the potential to mount the winner's stand.

After being edged by the strong College Park Falcons, 50-47, De Anza had little trouble moving past the highly regarded Piedmont Scots.

Vacaville, champion of the Golden Empire League, came into the tourney pretty much an unknown quantity. They have a squad that has six lettermen from a team that posted a 21-2 record last year. Jerry Reece is tabbed as their top man.

Acalanes took on the Vacaville quint, in a game that was rated pretty much a toss-up. The Dons have failed to impress thus far this year having dropped two of their first three outings. Coach Bert Barnett's crew hasn't jelled as yet, but definitely have the potential to be a top team.

VALLEJO to this point has done a workmanlike job.

Balboa of the San Francisco AAA has been only a so-so cage power in recent years, and didn't figure to be a contender in this one.

Davis, champions of the Superior League last year, have been hit pretty heavy by graduation, and are generally expected to fall below last year's performance.

Host, Del Valle, also assumes the dark horse roll. Hampered by size and experience, the Trojans have nevertheless aquitted themselves in fine style. Winners of their first two outing, the Trojans got knocked off by the soaring College Park Falcons.

VIC Shellenberg, Barry Wilk, Doug Swanson, et al, have done a fine job.

One of the features of the tournament will be the selection of the All Tournament team.

Last year, Bill O'Toole, Del Valle, Dennis Morgan, Skyline, Bill Higgins, Acalanes, Howard Tuttle, Cupertino, and Bob Strain, Acalanes comprised the top group. Only Strain of Acalanes will be around to have the chance to be a repeater.

This event bids to become one of the leading ones of this nature in the area, is a welcome addition to the sports agenda.

Tickets for the remaining games for both students and adults are available at the box-office at game time.

Bruce Lee New Prexy of Trail Riders Group

Bruce Lee of Walnut Creek will be installed as president for the coming year of the Concord - Mt. Diablo Trail Ride Association at it's annual installation breakfast to be held Sunday at 11 a.m. at the clubhouse on the north slope of Mt. Diablo.

Mayor George Krueger of Concord will do the honors as installing officer.

Other new officers to be installed include, Ray Clauss, vice president; Morey Fergueson, Secretary; Edythe Sauer, treasurer. Bob Mattson, George Mirati, Fitch Robertson and Al Minor have been elected as directors.

CCD Roundup

Undefeated Falcons, Rams Face Mid-Valley Tourney

College Park and Pleasant Hill, both undefeated prior to the Mid-Valley Tournament currently underway, drew tough starting assignments in that play.

College Park, rated by many as one of the favorites, drew St. Mary's of Berkeley in the first round. The Panthers came to the Classic, fresh from an upset victory over the perennially tough Richmond Oilers.

The Rams took on Mt. Diablo in their opener. The Devils are one of the pre-season favorites in the CCD.

THE DEVIL-RAM clash was in a sense a continuation of the final of the Classic last year.

Pleasant Hill, as defending champs in the tourney, won that one.

Bob Fabian dunked in 18 points for high point honors. Center Dean Lenzi tanked 13 and Keith Harris 12.

THE RAMS are lacking in height, but thus far this year have made up for the loss of the "big man" with speedy, aggressive play. In addition, they have demonstrated that they are a good shooting club.

The high soaring Falcons battled the De Anza Dons right down to the wire before coming off the victor in a 50-47 overtime tilt.

Tied at 45 all at the end of regulation play, Bill Fife hit with a tip in, and Tom Fasanoro contributed two from the charity line.

All-league Roger Mower led the Falcons with 22. Fasanaro hit for 10.

TUESDAY, College Park came up with a strong second half effort to move past Del Valle, 61-49.

After trailing by 12 points at one time in the first half, the Falcons had cut the Trojan lead to 26-25 by half-time.

The Rams will clash with Alhambra on the Bulldog hardwoods Tuesday.

Next weekend the Rams will play a doubleheader in Sonora.

School Finances — Sacred Cow?

"At an early date, we will begin our inquiry into the subject of public school finance."

This was part of an address given by State Senator George Miller, Jr. December 5 before the California State Chamber of Commerce in Los Angeles.

THE SENATOR from Martinez mentioned schools as only a phase of tightening the taxpayer's belt to stop the inflationary spiral of spending.

Senator Miller is chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee which is now engaged, along with a group of experts, in an all-encompassing study of the state's tax structure from the state's down to the local and school levels.

Miller told the chamber members that state spending over the past few years has been rising 10 per cent annually while revenues have been increasing by only six per cent. These figures are taken from expenditures for current operations alone and do not include capital outlay, the Senator said.

ANOTHER INCREASE in taxes is in the offing in the next few years, he noted.

Senator Miller charged that our public schools have administrative costs which are out of all proportion to the costs of providing facilities and meeting the basic classroom needs of our schools.

"No one questions that our state must provide the finest system of public education the world can provide. I only submit that for the money we spend we are getting shortchanged—and the State Senate believes the people want to know why."

IF THE PEOPLE don't want to know why, Senator, they should. It is refreshing to hear a person in a high place in the government talk about the school system in a businesslike manner. Not as if it were ensconced in an Ivory Tower.

Too frequently, residents think of efficient schools only in terms of spending large sums of money. True, for a good many years, teachers were underpayed and underprivileged.

THIS IS NOT longer the case. But it a dissenting voice is heard where a teacher pay raise is concerned —too often the person is labeled by the community as being a traitor to the cause of higher learning.

A business administrator must run his concern in the black or he is considered to be inefficient. School administrators should be expected to do the same without downgrading the quality of education.

There have been a few dissenting trustees who (for practical reasons) would not go along with their school board's policy for increased spending. These trustees were not thanked by the taxpayer. Instead, they were defeated when they came up for re-election.

The education system seems to be wrapped in an Untouchable intangible aurora by many residents. Anyone who attempts to unveil it, is a "bad guy."

The Sun says "Bravo, Senator!" Through the portals of our schools go our most precious possesion, our children. But like you, we don't believe overspending and upgrading education need to go hand-in-hand.

Candidate Hunt For Supervisor

A newspaper gets lots of telephone calls. The Sun received one yesterday which made our day.

It was from a woman in Orinda whom we do not know, although her husband is active in civic affairs in their community. Mrs. X has children, pays taxes, is educated and in all ways represents what we like to think is the typical suburbanite.

THE WAY Mrs. X is different than a lot of residents is that she's extremely interested in local government. She asked us lots of questions about who was running for supervisor.

We gave her some factual information on the two candidates who have thus far announced their intentions to run for supervisor of district 2. She knew enough about the incumbent supervisor to know that she did not want him to be her family's sole representative in local government for the next four years.

Mrs. X and a few other neighbors are getting together for the purpose of canvassing likely candidates for the second supervisoral district. When they decide upon their man, they will form a citizen's committee to back him to the hilt.

MRS. X knew that the sprawling district two, through the heart of central county, takes in about 35,000 registered voters. This represents a population of approximately 63,000.

In the unincorporated communities like Orinda and Lafayette, the supervisor more directly touches local homes through legislation than does any other elected official.

Registration date for candidates to file is from February 24 to March 20. By then, Mrs. X's Citizen's group hopes to have a man throw a hat into the ring.

Our hats are off to Mrs. X. As long as our county has public spirited constituents such as her—there's concrete hope for the future of our county bountiful.

Letters to the Editor

Real Estate VS. Rumford j

(Editor's note: Following is a letter to Phillip J. Daunton, executive director of the Central Contra Costa County Council of Churches. The writer extended permission for use of the letter on this page.)

Dear Dr. Daunton:

Regarding our telephone conversation of December 9 about the article on the front page of the Sun of December 6.

I called your attention to certain inaccuracies in the news release issued by your office in which it was stated that 48 churches of the Council by "an overwhelming majority" passed a resolution approving the Rumford Bill.

The story listed the names of all 48 churches of the Council. This would infer to the average reader that the congregations of all churches listed had approved this action.

I TOLD you I had learned that in fact there had been only 18 persons in attendance at the meeting of November 21st when this resolution had been adopted and of these 16 had cast affirmative votes. Unless my basic mathematics and semantics have completely failed me, 16 out of 48 could hardly be considered "an overwhelming majority".

We also discussed the results of my investigation regarding the activities of the minister of my church where it was found that neither the congregation or executive board of the church had empowered him to act in their behalf and in fact were not aware of his activities in this regard.

THAT THERE can be no question of integrity, honesty or truthfullness from a Council of Churches would seem self evident. I therefore respectfully suggest you have an obligation to immediately contact the Sun and correct the unfortunate misstatements in the news release.

In all fairness to the churches who did not participate in this activity I further suggest only the names of the churches who cast an affirmative vote should be published. This would afford the congregations of those churches an opportunity to take such corrective actions as they deemed necessary as we are doing in my church.

BALDWIN CRITIC

EDITOR:

Well it seems that Mr. Baldwin is still up to his old tricks. He is opposed to the wheat sale to Russia. In his newsletter he neglected to explain that the wheat is to be sold at the world price which we have no way, nor should we, to dictate.

Our Congressman states that "many" of the people in our district are opposed to this bill. Mr. Baldwin, who are the many you spoke of in your newsletter?

HERE AGAIN he has neglected to support the late Kennedy Administration which he so honestly promised to support when we last re-elected him.

Chances are that if he continues to act and vote at all as he has in the past he will attempt to prevent legislation coming from the new Johnson Administration from passing in the House of Rep.

Yes this will all come to pass unless we, as the balloters, do something about it. When the time rolls around again for the people of each district in the United States to elect their REPRESENTATIVES we must look back on Mr. Baldwin's voting record of the past and ask ourselves if we truly support his Republican beliefs. If just all of the Democrats in this district alone would do this unprejudicely we would elect a new Representative to Congress who truly represents the majority, and not the minority as now is the case.

"No wonder I've been getting all of those letters asking for a new tunnel!"
Sun Cartoon by Gene Shehorn

We Like It Here . . .

Trials & Tribulations Of a holiday shopper . . .

SOME PEOPLE make it easy for themselves & shop by phone.

But than ain't no fun!

In the spirit of Fearless Fosdick, I prefer to shop with the throng. The last-minute ones. Coming up next week with their fevered brows & their frantic looks.

It's all in the spirit of Christmas, you know.

How anyone can feel Christmasy without being jostled by the crowds or smiling at absolute strangers (even if the some of 'em don't smile back) is beyond me.

I DON'T get that old holiday feeling until I've been swept along the streets with a surging mob of city folk.

MY badge of bravery is the big blister at the end of my heel.

I have even learned to ignore the huge headache that follows my annual foray into town.

I dress to suit the occasion, too.

My red suit, for instance, exactly matches my florid complexion after a day in & out elevators, up & down the escalators & huffing & puffing after elusive salesclerks.

THE green suit, however, goes well with That Look I get about four in the afternoon when I realize that, someplace along the line. I skipped lunch because the counters were 3-deep or the favorite tea room SRO.

MY tootsies may be barking, my head may be screaming, my stomach may be growling, but I wouldn't miss that field trip for anything.

My soul & senses have been well-fed at the sight of so many wonderful & interesting kinds of people; at the ring of bells on street corners & a sudden brilliant burst of caroling; at the dazzling decor in the big department stores & the special touches at the smaller specialty shoppes.

I LOOK & I look, I feast my eyes. But the Big City would never get rich on me. Oh, I might pick up a few small packages, but the traditional pilgrimmage I take is my "Annual Window Shopping".

When it comes to actually crossing off names on that Christmas list, I'll do it right in my own suburban backyard.

It's more comfortable, more convenient . . .

It's also safer. At least here, if I get parted from my family or car, I can always make it home comparatively easy. Even walking.

SO I had my big day. A couple of 'em, in fact. Hallelujah!

I caught the color & the feeling of Good Will Toward Men.

Especially from Kaiser Center's Security Officer Randall Norse who rescued me from complete confusion in that pentagon-type garage when I lost a friend's car for a very long half-hour last week.

I'm home from the distant fields; weary, happy, a little worse for wear. But watch out, stores! Move over, Mabel.....

NEXT week I tackle my gift list CLOSE TO HOME!

Coffee For Only A Nickel?

By TOM DOOLEY

In an area where costs of living are generally considered "a little higher" than in other locals, it is refreshing to stumble across a place where you can get a good cop of coffee for a nickel.

Lafayette has such a place.

It's a lunch counter located inside a downtown drug store. I won't mention the store's name for several reasons. Perhaps the people who run the store would appreciate the publicity on the other hand, they might not.

THERE ARE no available figures on how many places in this country still sell coffee for a nickel a cup, but I'm sure the number is steadily diminishing.

After a few inquiries I learned that most cafes and coffee shops don't really make any profit when they charge a dime for a cup of coffee.

So, many cafes charge more than 10 cents for a cup of java; some charge a nickel for a refill, some charge more. It depends on where you go, of course.

There is a modern-type drive-in in Walnut Creek that has good coffee and a steady stream of customers, many of them coffee drinkers.

I went to this drive-in with a friend. We ordered coffee. It cost us 25 cents a cup.

GOOD GRIEF, Charlie Brown!

We didn't ask for a refill. We were scared to.

Some cafe owners admit they don't make any money by selling coffee—they don't intend to. But some of them also admit that the coffee is merely a "drawing card" —people come in for a cup and some of them order a doughnut or a piece of pie. Most cafes can gain a little profit from the sale of pastries, at least enough to compensate for whatever loss may have been sustained from the coffee sale.

I think most people resent having to pay more than 10 or 15 cents for a cup of coffee. Me, too.

BUT THIS drug store lunch counter in Lafayette doesn't seem to use a nickel cup of coffee for a "gimmick." Prices of other things in the store, including food, are comparatively low.

Being a skier, I've traveled to numerous snow covered slopes throughout the western United States and a cup of hot coffee, as far as I'm concerned, has no substitute after an hour or two of sliding down the chilly terrain.

And I've paid anywhere from 35 to 85 cents for a mug of watered-down—but hot—coffee.

Someone once said that what this country needs is a good five cent cigar. I'll go along with that. But I'm sure there are many who would like to be able to get a good five cent cup of coffee.

I hope this announcement about a nickel cup of coffee brings a deluge of letters pointing out other places featuring the same phenomenon.

But I don't expect them.

Letters to The Editor

PRESIDENT'S DEATH

Editor's Note — Suzanne Arighi, Miramonte High School graduate class of 1960, is presently in Bordeaux France with the Education Abroad Program of the University of California. Her remarks about the effects of the students from California the Kennedy assassination on and from France are of local interest.

Chers Tous:

I first heard that Kennedy had been shot last night during the dinner given us by the Association Generale des Etudiants, one of the student organizations. One of the French boys had heard the news on the radio and came in to make the announcement.

Then about five minutes later he returned and said that Kennedy was dead. With this announcement, there was stunned silence in the room annd then some of the American girls burst out crying.

THERE WERE about 25-30 Americans at the dinner and about the same number of French. I was rather surprised at how much the news affected we Americans. We were all literally stunned; I think that perhaps it hit us even harder than those of you at home, but maybe this is not true. I think that we all felt very helpless being here in France.

In some ways I was wishing that I was home because what has happened and what is going to happen is going to be very important in the history of the United States and that of the world. It seems incredible that such a thing could happen in such a "modern" and "civilized" time.

MORE THAN ever I realized how great an image and what an important leader Kennedy has been. At least I know now that he was considered as such in France, and the French people in general are mourning his death almost as much as America is.

. . . As soon as we heard the news of Kennedys death, the party broke up. A lot of the Americans went home, especially those at Talence. However, I stayed for awhile at the A.G.E. house where we had had dinner, and talked to some of the French and Americans.

It is rather strange, but all that seemed to occur to the Americans was that Kennedy had been killed because of Civil Rights issues . . .

UNFORTUNATELY, we Americans were not at all thinking clearly and let the whole discussion be carried to this extreme, never mentioning or discussing the fact that Kennedy's position in Cuba or anywhere else, or any number of other reasons may have been the cause.

After talking at the A.G.E. house for awhile, some of us went over to a cafe for coffee and to watch the latest news. Just as I magine it was in the U.S., all programs were stopped in France and a newcast about Kennedy was on all the stations.

ANOTHER THING which is somewhat related to this, is that the French often call Americans "Les Grands Enfants"—the big children. They think that we are very naive and immature . . .

Just the other day I was talking to the landlady of one of the girls in our group. She was telling us about how her house, the house we were in, had been occupied by the Germans and how her son had been in a concentration camp for two years. Most Americans have never experienced things such as she had, and I think that this makes a lot of difference in life.

I think that all of the French students who were at the dinner last night were very much touched by Kennedy's death. Probably more so, because we Americans were so touched. They were all extremely sympathetic and nice.

Today there was a notice on the board in our Center, saying that the A.G.E.B. had asked the U.S. Consulate here in Bordeaux to arrange for speakers at a memorial dinner

Fired Up Over Parks And Gun Control Laws

By ROBERT KAHN

Today I would like to discuss briefly two outdoor subjects—the proposed merger with East Bay Regional Parks and gun control laws.

The merits of the proposed merger have been thoroughly presented by Mr. Mattison, the Director of Parks for our County, and covered by this newspaper in detail. However, a letter was published on the front page last week where a position in opposition was presented.

One of the major points made was that there was something wrong, per se, in joining with Alameda County. Of course, the writer of the letter seems to have forgotten that the bulk of East Bay Municipal Utility District is located in Alameda County (and we recently approved for a quarter of a billion dollars in district bonds). It also seems to me that much of Central Contra Costa County has worked long and hard to be included in EBMUD.

I don't quite understand why we should have complete distrust when it comes to parks?

It might be that we never were able to enjoy the benefits of EBMUD water without joining the district —but we have, for many years, been able to enjoy the benefits of EBRPD parks without joining.

The writer of the letter seems to impugn the objectives of all persons connected with EB Regional Park District—with such statements, in the form of questions, as "Who would ever believe that with so much money available, we would be masters of our own fate?" Perhaps the writer is unaware that the East Bay Park Director, Mr. Mott, helped organize the movement for parks in Contra Costa County and has lived in this county for many years.

The writer apparently doesn't know that the head of the Board of the Park District is Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, President Emeritus of the University of California and one of the truly great citizens of our area. I think that it is absolutely impossible for anyone to find the slightest basis for casting even the smallest of shadows on the integrity of Dr. Sproul.

I sincerely hope that as the subject of annexation to East Bay Parks progresses that the opponents will speak on a higher plane than the initial statement—and I hope that the arguments will have more factual basis. There are points to be considered and discussed —but there are absolutely no persons connected with park programs in either our County or the East Bay Park District who are not of the very highest integrity.

So much for parks—now for gun control. Following the assassination of the President with a mail-order gun, there has been a great deal of talk about tighter gun control laws. There are more statistics being thrown around in this field than ever before.

Recently I saw, some figures attributed to an FBI survey showing the correlation between the strength of gun registration laws (standards of registration were not defined in the summary) and the percentage of homicides involving guns. This was a bit misleading because they didn't indicate whether homicides were any lower when guns weren't used—or whether people found other means such as knives, axes and arsenic.

On the other hand the opponents to gun control laws point out that virtually all internally developed dictatorships have, during thier formative periods, required gun registration and subsequently used that registration as a means of disarming honest citizens.

But it seems to me that nobody is ever looking at Switzerland to see what happens there. Because the basic military strength of the country rests in their militia, virtually every male has been trained to use a gun. Further, while subject to service (18 to 45, as I recall) HE IS REQUIRED TO KEEP HIS GUN AND AMMUNITION IN HIS HOME. Yet the crimes involving guns are not significant.

Perhaps the basic principle is this: when people don't know how to use something, it is dangerous. When teen-agers were accounting for an abnormal number of deaths with cars, we started driver training programs in high schools rather than car use control. Neither registration of cars or licensing of drivers had solved the problem.

Perhaps the solution to mis-use of weapons is the Swiss approach—better training and more readily available training.

Letters to The Editor

SCHOOL SAFETY

EDITOR:

Recently, you published a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. Muller of Orinda concerning safe walkways for school children.

To my knowledge, no school in our district has safe walking conditions for its students. The county has not and, apparently, will not take the responsibility to see that our children get to school safely.

The school district feels this is out of their realm (education).

If each concerned Parents Club or Parent-Teacher Association struggles for a solution, we duplicate efforts; grappling with officials, learning terminology, procedures, ordinances, etc. And finally, the solution we must accept is a poor substitute for the ideal.

Why not get all the Parents Clubs, P-TAs, and the School Board, to band together to make a BIG noise. We could start with the County Supervisor and continue down the line of Officials, bombard them with phone calls and letters until they recognize our safety problems and offer adequate solutions.

Every time an individual school takes the responsibility as their own, we allow the county to continue ignoring responsibility for a county-wide safety problem.

Towns Have A Trace of Yule In Monikers

Traces of Christmas can even be found in Uncle Sam's Official Postal Guide.

"Santa Claus," Ind., "Bethlehem," Conn., and "Christmas," Fla., are a few of the more familiar post offices which each year handle floods of mail from senders wishing to obtain appropriate Yuletide postmarks on their greetings, notes Rust Craft Greeting Cards. The company estimates that more than 3½ billion Christmas cards will be sent this season.

Indiana's "Santa Claus" is the only town so designated in the United States. The privilege is reserved to its post office by Congressional Act. There is, however, "Santa" in Idaho, but only one "Christmas"—the one in Florida, plus a "Christmas Cove," in Maine.

Holiday Decorations Talk Set

Postponed because of the events of two weeks ago, the annual lecture - demonstration on holiday decorations by Jack F. Daniels will be featured in the Lakeside Park Garden Center on Saturday at 2 p.m.

Chairman of the Fine Arts Division of San Mateo College and nationally recognized as a top leader in floral and interior design, Daniels is presented by the Decor Committee of Oakland - East Bay Garden Center Inc., through cooperation of the Oakland Park Commission.

NET PROCEEDS of the event will be donated to a fund begun by the garden club group for redevelopment and decoration of the Polynesian Room, downstairs in the Garden Center building. The project is being financed in various ways by the organization, according to Mrs. William Shepherd of San Leandro, chairman of the day.

Daniels will be appearing before this group for the third year. Emphasis will be on the use of greens in creative arrangements for the approaching yuletide season.

NAMED MAN of the Year by the California Federation of Garden Clubs in 1959, Daniels was speaker at the Accredited Judges Symposium at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York last January. He was a contestant in the January. He was a contestant in the Jackson Perkins Rose Contest in New York in June, and was speaker and demonstrator for the National Garden Club Convention in Los Angeles in 1962.

The Monitor Is Available At News Racks

Mrs. Helen Marble, chairman of the Christian Science Monitor Circulation Information Committee, Orinda, announced recently that today's western edition of the Christian Science Monitor is now available on news racks at the following locations: Wells Fargo Bank, Orinda; Orinda bus stop; Orinda Post Office; Lucky's market at the Crossroads, Orinda; and at Nate's corner in Lafayette.

Barring transportation difficulties, these racks are being serviced daily with "Today's paper today!"

With its world-wide staff of correspondents, writers, and editors, the Christian Science Monitor presents award-winning news coverage from an affirmative basis, said Mrs. Marble. It adds insight to information.

While pointing out universal challenges that need attention, it emphasizes the progress of nations individually, and the world as a whole.

This unique approach to reporting makes the Christian Science Monitor an ideal news media for the family, the educator, the businessman.

Glad Bulbs Will Make Garden Glad

Chances are a good many gardeners haven't even lifted last year's gladiolus bulbs yet, but the season to plant new ones has already arrived. Southern Californians start planting this prolific bulb as early as December and they will soon follow suit elsewhere in the state. Successive plantings at three week or month intervals permit you to cut a continuous harvest of colorful spikes—from spring through summer and into early fall.

How desperately difficult it is to be honest with oneself. It is much easier to be honest with other people.

School Dollar Breakdown Listed In County Report

At least 75 cents of the school dollar spent in Contra Costa County in 1962-63 went to the costs of instruction: salaries of teachers, principals, supervisors, and other certificated personnel, textbooks and other expenses.

The rest of the school dollar, the annual financial report of the County Department to Education shows, was divided among the costs of operating and maintaining school plants, fixed charges—insurance, retirement contributions, etc. — administration, transportation and health services, roughly in that order.

OF THE elementary school dollar, 75 cents was spent for instruction. Seventy-seven cents of the high school dollar and nearly 78 cents of the unified school district dollar went into instruction. In the Contra Costa Junior College District the expenditure for instruction was 75 cents of each dollar expended.

To operate the school plant, the elementary level of expenditure was almost 10 cents and to maintain it, 3 cents. The high school expenditures for the same purposes were 9 cents and 4 cents, respectively. Of the unified district dollar, 9 cents was spent for plant operation and 3½ cents for maintenance. Junior college plant operation was 11 cents and maintenance 3 cents of the dollar expended.

FIXED CHARGES called for 4 cents each from the elementary and unified school dollar, 5 cents from the high school and nearly 6 cents from the junior college district.

Administration costs were approximately 3 cents of the dollar spent at high school, unified and junior college levels and 4 cents at the elementary level.

The proportion spent on transportation was 3 cents of the elementary school dollar, 2 cents of the uinfied dollar and 1 cent each of the high school and junior college dollar.

Health services expenditures were approximately 1 cent at all levels.

Vets Ask About Their C-Number

Why should veterans, physicians or others always have the veteran's C-number ready when writing or making a long distance call to the VA on behalf of a veteran?

There are many, many veterans with the same or similar names in the list of more than 22,000,000 veterans serviced by VA. With no information available except the name, it is difficult or impossible to identify the proper record or to locate the record in the files.

Honest policy is a good friend, both to our safety and to our usefullness.

Plants Make Good Gifts For Christmas Season

To the gardener — or nearly anyone, for that matter—what better gift than a plant he or she can enjoy during the Christmas season and then grow in the garden and enjoy season after season?

Azaleas, heathers, camellias and poinsttias come instantly to mind as excellent gifts because some of these will be in bloom when you give them.

DONT OVERLOOK chrysanthemums, however, which now are ready at any season of the year with their gorgeous, varied colors and forms. Include a note in your gift saying that it can be planted in the garden when bloom is over — and it will bloom on its own schedule thereafter in the garden.

Among the excellent gift heathers are John McLaren, a low, rather compact plant with lovely pink tubular flowers; Persoluta, which is very bushy, very beautiful with its rosy and pink shades of bell-shaped flowers; Pink Scotch Heather is one of the most widely grown with its billowy masses of rosy pink flowers and fine foliage as well as interesting, weathered - looking branches.

ALL OF these heathers will do well in tubs or in the ground and tolerate pruning when in bloom. This is one of their great assets because you can "prune" bouquets and shape the plant at the same time.

THE CALIFORNIA Association of Nurserymen has a wide selection of azaleas and by judicious buying you can have bloom from these nearly all year — one reason any gardener friend should particularly appreciate their valeas certainly take high ue.

as they go indoors and outdoors equally well provided the temperatures don't slip too low.

Carving The Old Holiday Bird Is Art

Carring the holiday bird—whether it be a duck, turkey, goose or a partridge (in a pear tree) — is a happy task.

And when it is done with skill, flair and a fine set of carving tools it is practically an art.

Here are some tips from the makers of Ekco and Flint cutlery that will help the head of the family do the carving chores in true Lord of the Manor fashion.

THE ALL — IMPORTANT beginning is a good set of knives with fine hollow-ground steel blades and long-lasting Pakkawood handles —an unusual gift idea for Dad. A long-bladed roast slicer carves fowl best. You will also need a long-handled fork with two tines.

The secret to successful bird carving is a sharp knife, applied to one side at a time. Here's how:

First, insert the fork firmly through the center of the wishbone. Place the platter so the legs of the bird are to your right. Start by carving the leg nearest you.

Alamo Man Is Expert Named

Donald Doyle, Alamo, a resident of Contra Costa County for several years and a former State Assemblyman has been named Contra Costa County March of Dimes campaign chairman for 1964.

Upon his acceptance of this appointment Doyle announced that he looks to the 1964 campaign as one of the greatest years for the March of Dimes, attributing this philosophy to the traditional American spirit of response to the needs of the nation and its people.

"THE MARCH of Dimes is doing more than any other private organization has ever done to fight two of the nation's greatest cripplers — birth defects and arthritis.

"That's the reason I accepted chairmanship of the 1964 March of Dimes campaign in Contra Costa County and that's the reason I believe it deserves the support of all our citizens," said Doyle.

Iden Interiors Doing Business

Those seeking new and varied ideas in interior decorating—and those who would like a touch of elegance — should be delighted to visit a recently opened shop in Lafayette's Plaza Center.

To be known as Iden Interiors, the shop's address is 3518 P, Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Anne S. Iden, owner, said the store will be open six days a week and Friday evenings.

MRS. IDEN is well known in the area and she was formerly affiliated with W & J Sloane, Inc., Walnut Creek branch.

Iden Interiors will feature varied types of furnishings and household accessories. Exclusive imports are available as gifts for all occasions, Mrs. Iden said.

Mrs. Iden said she has helped design the interiors for many homes in the area and she said that prior to the opening of the new store she had a small studio in Lafayett.

A HIGHLY QUALIFIED interior director, Mrs. Iden said will be available for consultation six days a week. In addition, she said she will be available to go into homes and suggest types of furniture which best suit the home.

The new interior shop also features a variety of carpets and drapings in a multitude of colors and styles. Many miscellaneous household items are also on display.

Mrs. Iden invited all interested persons to drop in at the new store and "browse around."

Roses in December Make Lovely Gift

A plant or shrub makes a lasting Christmas gift that will be remembered year after year when it comes into bloom. Of course, it's nice to have the plant in bloom when you give it, but don't let this deter you from giving one that's not. A lovely Rhododendron, for instance, will be appreciated just as much by the recipient, even though it won't show color until mid-spring. If current color it must be, however, there are Camellias, Azaleas and many others to choose from.

Fuchsia Does Not Need Pruning Now

As soon as cold weather sets in and the bloom fades, many gardeners are apt to rush in and prune their Fuchsias. This is not the preferred practice, however, since pruning is likely to spur some new growth. Then comes the freeze and then an unhappy Fuchsia. Wait until later in winter—until February before you prune Fuchsias. Don't be impatient.

Las Lomas Grad Relates Nigerian U Reactions

Nigerian reaction to the news of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy is described in a letter received here by Mr. and Mrs. J.R.T. Montin, 2210 Hillside Court, from their daughter, Marcia.

In her letter, dated November 26, Miss Montin, who is in Ibadan, Nigeria, on a grant from the American Association of University Women, wrote:

"Since the news of Kennedy's death I have been in the deepest depression. If this is how the Americans feel abroad I can't imagine how deep feeling must be at home. My little activities seem so trivial.

"Friday night the students were all buzzing and Saturday most of the newspapers featured the story. Some of the stewards came to me to express how bad they felt.

"THE FIRST reaction was that it was a racist killing — and many won't accept that it was a leftist. The second wave of reaction has been very strange — blaming the American people —'after all you have a violent society', they say.

"A professor from this University asked me how this differed from the deaths of Lumumba or Diem 'which Kennedy had a hand in'. One thing which just can't be put across to them is that our government continues. It is not dependent on one man and that whether or not we agreed with him, he was our President, and therefore, a very important personalized institution to us — not to mention the personal tragedy.

"ALL OF THE violence and mess-up on who killed the President leaves such a feeling of absurdity and meaninglessness over here. However, there were the services — American Baptist and student Catholic here, which were excellent."

A Las Lomas high school graduate, Miss Montin is a temporary member of the University College faculty at Ibadan while assembling material for her Ph. D. in Political Science. She expects to return to London in the spring to complete her thesis at the London School of Economics.

A graduate of Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania, she obtained an M.A. and M.L.D. from Fletcher Graduate School.

Teeners Present Hootenanny '63

At long last a "hootenanny" is coming to Contra Costa County. Tomorrow, the St. Isidore's Teen Club will present Hootenanny '63. This delightful evening of Folk music, beginning at 8 p.m., will take place at the San Ramon High School auditorium.

Tickets are on sale at three locations: Ray Young Jewelers, Danville; Music Town, Walnut Creek; and the Sports Chalet, Pleasant Hill.

A fine cast of professional folksingers will provide the entertainment at this fund-raising event. Jim Schenk, formerly with the Barbary Coastmen, and his Pumpernickel Folk Chorus will hilight the program. "Sing-a-longs" will add to the enyojment.

Pets, Chilcdren Should Not Be 'ed Mistletoe

With the approach of Christmas and the holiday season, the Alameda - Contra Costa Veterinary Medical Association warns against the possibility of pets becoming poisoned from mistletoe.

While most animals will not eat mistletoe because of its bitter taste, an incident was reported last year when a puppy was brought to a veterinarian for treatment.

"The toxic substance has an action similar to digitalis," said a spokesman for the Alameda-Contra Costa association. "There is no antidote — with the possible exception of potassium, which is difficult to administer."

EXAMINATION OF the puppy disclosed acute hemorrhagic gastroenteritis; rapid heart; normal temperature; vomiting and twitching of ears and eyelids.

After hospital treatment gradual improvement occurred during the next 14 days. Two weeks later the pup py had completely recovered.

According to the association, the patient's response in cases of this kind can be questionable, therefore it behooves every pet owner to take precautions to keep mistletoe from both children and animals.

Even a little lie is dangerous; it deteriorates the conscience.

Look for These Clues in Buying Wood Furniture

Wooden furniture is referred to as case goods.

"Case goods" is the term used in the furniture industry for dining room and bedroom furniture and includes any furniture with doors or drawers, coffee tables and end tables.

These questions will help you judge the quality of case goods:

WHAT KIND of wood is used in the case goods you are shopping for?

Hardwood will last longer, stand rougher use and keep its finish better than soft wood. Examples of hardwoods are: walnut, mahogany, oak, maple, cherry and birch. Gumwood is also used in good, medium-priced furniture.

WHAT ABOUT veneered wood which is often used in case goods?

In high quality furniture, yiu will find no chipping or peeling. The surface layer is a thin sheet glued onto plywood. The plywood construction adds strength—three, five or seven layers of wood are glued under pressure. Veneer makes possible contrasting or matching patterns which add to the beauty of furniture.

HOW DO the drawers pull?

They should open straight and slide easily. You will have no trouble with pamming if center or side glides are mortised into the frame. Metal glides give smooth sliding drawers. A panel shelf under the drawers makes them dust proof, another sign of quality in case good furniture.

IS THERE a preferred finish for case goods?

Any good finish will be smooth. Some finishes cover up the color and grain of the wood so you'll need to osk what kind of wood was used. A walnut finish may be used on many other woods.

The new finishes which resist heat, liquid and food stains are practical for families with small children. You will need to ask what you can expect from the finish.

The finest furniture has a soft, mellow, hand-rubbed finish. This finish involve labor so you can expect to pay more.

HOW ARE corners joined?

Points of strain need extra reinforcement. Good workmanship can be judged by checking the legs and drawers. Look for litle blocks of wood glued or screwed into the corners, behind the legs and under drawers. If glue has been used it should be smooth, no oozing around the edges.

Nails used in furniture making are a sign of low quality. This applies to drawer bottoms and back panels on chests of drawers and other furniture designed to be placed against a wall.

Children Like Some Foods Best

HOW FOOD looks, tastes and feels in a child's mouth makes the difference in his eating habits. Children like:

Bright colors: Foods like red gelatin, orange carrots, green beans.

Mild flavors: Young tender carrots, potatoes, bananas and applesauce are appealing to a pre-schooler. Onions, cauliflower, cabbage or broccoli may be frowned upon because of their strong flavor.

Textures: Variety may be achieved by serving crisp, raw vegetables and fruits at the same meal as smooth soups and soft-cooked eggs and meats.

Finger foods: Carrot sticks, small pieces of lettuce and sandwiches cut in bite size make these foods easy to handle.

Unmixed, simple foods: Meat patties are preferred to mixtures, for example to meat in a stew.

Consistency: Moist foods, such as eggs, soup, puddings and custard are well liked by children.

QUESTION: What is Teflon?

Answer: Teflon is a smooth, plastic coating that is being used on cooking utensils and other items. The chemical name of Teflon is fluro-carbon resin. There are other finishes of this kind available too. Some homemakers have used the sprayed-on type — this, however, is washed off in the dishwashing process and must be repeated each time the pan is used.

Shell Chemical To Enlarge Unit

Construction of a new facility that will double the size of Shell Chemical Company's Market Development Unit at Martinez will be started shortly, Alfred W. Fleer, Manager of the Industrial Chemicals Division, announced recently.

The unit was established in 1957 to manufacture semi-commercial quantities of new chemical products and thus facilitate the growth of new chemicals from the laboratory stage to commercial production.

Bermuda Grass -- Go Home!

If Bermuda grass is a dominant factor in your lawn, you're probably not too happy with its winter-brown look. There are two possible answers to this, and the best is to dig it up and start from scratch. This is a good winter-time job which can be completed before the spring sowing season.

The second alternative: Rough rake the Bermuda lawn and sow over it with a fast-growing rye.

Decorating Tips For Xmas Hearth

The dormant season is here for home gardeners.

Insect pests and plant diseases are already making their plans on digging in for the winter. That is to say, some of them are. Many insects don't seem to understand it's time to get dormant . . .the usual pests like ants, fleas, earwigs, etc.

IT'S ALMOST a sure bet that the successful gardener —the one with the smoothest emerald lawn, the greenest, waxiest leaves, the most burgeoning shrubs and the most perfect blooms — will be out in his garden in these in-between - season days armed with clean-up tools and his dormant spray jar. The successful gardener organizes his gardening schedule to prevent insect damage.

He knows that an ounce of prevention is indeed worth a pound of cure. With his preventive program, he'll not only get more satisfying results, but he'll save himself energy, time and money.

Festivities Slated For Handicapped

Christmas and New Year's Eve fun is in store for the 29 handicapped boys and girls participating in the "Drop-In" recreation program co-sponsored by the Richmond Parks and Recreation Department and the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County.

The "Drop-Ins" are held each Saturday starting at 10 a.m. at the Recreation Center, 10th and Virginia Streets, Richmond.

Mrs. Jan Mills, recreation director, promises a morning of Christmas music, arts and crafts Saturday. On December 14 plans will be made for the Christmas program for family and friends, which will be held on December 21 from 12 to 1 p.m.

Mrs. Mills is assisted in the recreation sessions for handicapped children by 45 youth volunteers recruited by the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County.

Families who are interested in having their handicapped child participate in the recreation program may do so by completing a registration form. Forms may be obtained from the Easter Seal Society, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond or on Saturday mornings preceding the start of the program at the recreation center.

'Please Don't Pick The X-mas Trees'

A warning has been issued by Chief Ranger Ronald Day, of the East Bay Regional Park District to Christmas Tree pilferers.

A special Christmas Tree Patrol on a 24 hour basis will prosecute anyone damaging or taking trees or shrubs as a misdemeanor which charges a maximum $500 fine and or a six month jail sentence.

An increased security force will supplement the Ranger Division on a round the clock security patrol, Day stated.

Crude 1450 Woodcut Is First Christmas Card

There's quite a story behind those Christmas greetings you'll be sending and receiving by the dozen this holiday season.

The earliest known holiday greeting was actually a crude woodcut printed in 1450 in the Rhine Valley, Germany.

THE CARD shows the Christmas Child standing in the bow of an ancient galley manned by angels, with the Holy Mother seated at the mast. The inscription reads: "Here I come from Alexandria and bring many good years to give generously. I will give them for almost no money and have only God's love for my reward."

Sir Henry Cole, an Englishman, is credited with publishing the first "mass produced" Christmas greeting. In 1843, he had an artist, John Horsley, design a Christmas greeting for him because he was "too busy to write to his friends at Christmas." The card carried the message: "A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year Too You."

Cole had 1000 copies of the card printed which showed a friendly family party in progress, the oldsters with raised wine glasses in a toast to the person receiving the card.

ALTHOUGH Cole was hailed for his idea of inventing the Christmas card, his greeting met with severe criticism because it showed children at the same table with wine drinkers.

The first cards were unfolded pasteboards printed in color. Late in the 1850's and 60's, cards were die-stamped with designs combining ornaments and lettering. Larger cards became more popular in the 1880's.

BY THEN, the idea had been introduced into the United States. Louis Prang, a prominent Boston lithographer, looking for ways to increase his business, began making Christmas cards in 1875.

Prang was an expert in the art of what he called "chromolithography" and his work and reputation was well established throughout Europe. By using slabs of a particular limestone found only in Bavaria, he printed pictures in multi-colors, as many as 32 different shades at times. He reproduced them so perfectly that you could scarcely tell them from the original paintings.

PRANG sponsored an art competition to obtain his card designs. Within five years he was turning out five million cards a year, and it wasn't long before Prang cards trimmed with silk fringe and lace, also became known worldwide.

Although Prang gave up printing Christmas cards in the 1890's, he is credited with establishing in America the joy of sending and receiving Christmas cards, and is known as the "father" of the American Christmas card.

The first American Christmas card, however, had been printed in 1853, when R. J. Pease, an Albany, N. Y. dry goods merchant, designed, printed and mailed a Christmas card which also served as an advertisement for his products.

The only known remaining original of the Pease card is now housed in the Rust Craft antique greeting card collection.

Lafayette Men Promoted At Wells Fargo Banks

Norman G. Eckles and Dwight W. Stratton, both Lafayette residents, have received promotions at Wells Fargo Bank, according to Richard P. Cooley, vice president in charge of the bank's metropolitan branch division.

Eckles, 42, was promoted from assistant vice president to assistant vice president and assistant manager of Wells Fargo's Union Trust office in San Francisco.

STRATTON, 29, was advanced from assistant cashier at the Crown Zelerbach in San Francisco to assistant manager of the Twenty-second - Webster office in Oakland.

A native Californian, Eckles joined Wells Fargo at the Market - Montgomery office in 1936. He was named assistant cashier at Union Trust in 1957 and promoted to assistant vice president there three years ago.

ECKLES is on the board of governors of the American Institute of Banking and active in the Bank Management Alumni Association and the Valley View Improvement Association. He and his wife, Vivian, and their two children live at 1095 Laurel Drive.

Stratton, born and educated in Berkeley, has been with the bank eight years. He was elected assistant cashier at Crown Zellerbach two years ago. Stratton has been a loaned executive with the United Crusade and active with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the American Institute of Banking.

Nursery Shopping Is Lesiurely

If the rush of Christmas shopping is a drag on you, try finishing the job in the leisurely atmosphere of a local nursery. Gardening friends will always appreciate a gift to garden with, whether it's a plant, a gadget or a book on gardening. The California Association of Nurserymen reports that most of its members also have nicely designed combination gift certificates and cards which you can give and let your friend pick his own gift.

Urban Sprawl Swallows Acreage In California

Every day in California acreage almost equal to an average size farm is swallowed up by highways and urban sprawl.

An average size farm in California consists of 330 acres. The daily toll for population growth is 375 acres, according to the Council of California Growers.

SINCE 1942 more than a million acres of prime farmland in California have been converted to urban use.

Another million and a half acres are expected to be take out of production by 1975.

Will such an acreage reduction affect California agriculture's capacity to produce enough food for the State's ever-increasing population?

NO, SAY the experts. Not for quite a few years, at least. A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study shows that California still has 443,000 acres of undeveloped farmland. And it foresees a 25 per cent increase in production for many crops . . .as a result of the breeding of new crop varieties and better cultural practices.

However, for the farmer who is forced out by urbanization and who must move to less fertile soil, there are more problems than meet the eye.

USUALLY, the public hears only of the sometimes unusually high prices a farmer receives for his land from a sub-divider.

If he buys undeveloped land he must pay the cost of the land, plus land leveling, irrigation, and perhaps a year or two of soil preparation before he can plant a tree. Much undeveloped land contains salts that must be leached out by heavy watering and applications of counteracting chemicals. If the salts persist, he will install costly underground pipes for drainage.

AN ECONOMIST at the University of California in Davis recently estimated that the cost of developing 375 acres of new land in California would be a minimum of $300,000. That only covers the cost of getting the land ready for production. It doesn't include the years of waiting for a tree crop to get into production — years in which there are costs of taxes, cultivation, irrigation, spraying, and other cultural activities. It doesn't include drainage costs, if any.

By the time this citrus grower pays capital gains tax on the money he receives from the housing or shopping center developer, and by the time he collects his first dollar from his new trees, he often is lucky to break even.

Anyhow, during the next decade and a half, the experts say there will be enough land to meet the expected 30 per cent increase in the demand for food to feed the 25 million people who will be living in California.

Rehabilitation By Seal Society

Thomas G. Furgason has been employed by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County as vocational rehabilitation counselor for the Rehabilitation Workshop in Richmond, according to announcement from Mrs. Ardis V. Loonie, executive director of the Easter Seal Society of Contra Costa County.

MRS. LOONIE said that the employment of Furgason as rehabilitation counselor in the Easter Seal sponsored Workshop is one more step in increasing services to handicapped clients. She added, "Mr. Furgason will work closely with each client, evaluating his work habits, attitudes, productivity, and adjustment to the job."

A graduate of Acalanes High School in Lafayette, Furgason entered Oregon State College in 1957. One year of his unlergraduat estudy was in Austria at the University of Vienna, where his courses were psychology and European history.

He received his B.S. degree in social science from Oregon State College, and last June received his M.S. in guidance and counseling.

FURGASON INTERNED at Oregon State Counseling Center and was part time counselor for a local Oregon school.

Immediately prior to his employment at the Easter Seal Workshop, he served as temporary group counselor for Contra Costa Juvenile Hall in Martinez.

Winter Garden Is Crying for Care

December days are a time for pause and appraisal in the garden. Those of us who care are looking around for last-minute ways to batten down the hatch for winter. We do have our blustery days before the first daffodils and hyacinths start to bloom.

One thing especially that needs attention is the matter of proper drainage in garden beds. Many plants are so sensitive to poor drainage that they will not survive even a few weeks of exceedingly wet feet.

THE LOVELY Transvaal Daisy is one of these. Be sure its crown is above the soil level and be sure the soil is in such a setting as to insure fast run-off of water.

Winter annuals of all kinds —stocks, violas, pansies, calendulas — are also susceptible to waterlogging. They are perfectly willing to oblige by blooming if drainage is right, so check carefully to see that it is. If water stands inordinately long after a rain, or if the soil fails to become workable a couple of days after it rains, chances are its drianage needs improving.

How does one go about this? There are many involved ways and one very simple way. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests you follow the latter, which is merely to raise the bed a few inches to permit water to drain off easily.

YOU CAN do this quickly by using redwood header boards and surrounding the bed you want to raise. Add new soil and manure or leaf mold to build up the soil level. Bricks, rocks from nature's garden, broken concrete or railroad ties are all good ways to head up a bed to be raised for better drainage.

Also, you should make a careful check around the garden to see that stakes and ties are secure. Young saplings should be well supported by sturdy stakes if they are to avoid possible damage from winter wind and rain. Standard roses should likewise be guarded against the weather, and long canes of climbing roses should be tied securely to fence to trellis or whatever supports them.

Lavagetto Is Named Charity Drive Head

Harry "Cookie" Lavagetto of Orinda a nationally known sports figure, has been general chairman of the 1964 United Cerebral Palsy campaign in Contra Costa County, according to an announcment from Walter J. Jackson, president of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Contra Costa County.

Lavagetto said he was "proud to act as general chairman of the campaign in this county, particularly since cerebral palsy is the cruelest of multiple cripplers."

HE URGED county residents to support the "Cerebral Palsy 53 Minute March" will take place between January 14 and January 19.

The march program is a drive to raise funds for treatment, habilitation and research on behalf of the cerebral palsied children and adults in Contra Costa County It derives its name from the fact that a cerebral palsy child is born every 53 minutes.

Lavagetto was born in Oakland and attended Oakland public schools, graduating from Technical High School in 1931. He has been in baseball since 1932, playing with the San Francisco Seals, Oakland Oaks, Pittsburg Pirates and the Brooklyn Dodgers. He was named National League All-Star third baseman four years in a row.

HE WAS also a coach for the Oakland Oaks, the Washington Senators, and the New York Mets, the Washington Senators and the Minnesota Twins. He has recently been signed as coach for the San Francisco Giants.

Lavagetto served in the Untied States Navy from 1942 to 1945. He lives with his wife, Mary, and their two sons, Michael and Ernest, at 46 Tara Road in Orinda.

Cooking Frijoles?

There's really nothing very cold about the "cold, cold ground" if you just happen to get far enough down.

Oil engineers, according to the National Automobile Club, take temperatures as they drill far down for these deep wells, Around 20,000 feet the temperature usually runs to 330 degrees Fahrenheit.

Tips on Decorati Christmas Heart

THE WHITE wall over a contemporary fireside becomes a perfect background for a stylized star, centered with a cluster of brilliant Christmas balls. Elegant yet simple, this decoration can be made to blend with the color scheme of your room.

The old brick wall of a traditional hearth can be treated to a bountiful basket brimming with holiday packages and trimmed with a cherry bow, The basket could be spray-painted and the packages wrapped to blend or contrast.

Trimmed with spruce, holly and shiny ornaments and suspended from a ribbon, the lowly potato becames the hub of a graceful mobile.

Bulb Bargains This Time of Year

You don't read much about planting spring blooming bulbs in December, but you can usually find some good bargains in nurseries at this time—and whatever you read, December's not too late to plant. Tulips, Hyacinths and Daffodils can still be planted and for that matter, all of them are good for Christmas giving. Don't infer that you can wait indefinitely, however. The sooner you plant plant them the better at this late date.

"HOW'S THAT FOR AN UNOBSTRUCTED VIEW OF THE COUNTRYSIDE?"

Pre-Schoolers Gifts Take Selection Care

If your child isn't old enough to write a "Dear Santa" letter, choosing his Christmas toys can be a problem.

The pre-schooler who "wants everything" the week before Christmas is often the same child who "hasn't anything to play with" a week after Christmas.

MANY OF the costly toys that loving Santas gave him —so attractive on television or the toy counter — may already be abandoned or broken. To avoid these post-Christmas disappointments, parents should select pre-school toys with special care, according to Playskool Research.

For the pre-schooler, his toys are just as important as his clothing, and he usually outgrows them faster. Like his clothing, toys should be selected to fit the child's stage of growth and his particular needs.

Playskool Research advises parents to keep these hints in mind when choosing toys for a pre-school child:

1. SELECT TOYS that are sturdy and durable. Toys that break their promises to the child are disappointing to the youngster as well as to the parents' pocketbook.

2. Choose toys suited to the child's age, his stage of development and interests. A toy that is too simple isn't interesting. A toy that is too complicated is frustrating and should be put away until the child grows up to it.

3. Choose toys that are fun for the child, not easily broken novelties or gimmicks that only amuse him briefly or merely appeal to an adult. Non-specific toys, like blocks, have more lasting appeal than toys which are replicas of the adult world - in miniature.

4. Choose toys that are safe. There should be no sharp edges and wood should be sanded smooth. Paint should be non - toxic and parts the right size for small hands to manage, but large enough to prevent swallowing. Avoid electrical toys for young children.

5. CHOOSE TOYS that encourage long play periods by letting the child be an active participant, not just a passing observer. A toy should have many different kinds of play values.

6. Select toys for different kinds of play: some to stimulate physical activity, others for imaginative, dramatic, and social play.

Finally, Playskool Research counsels parents to remember that toys for the young child are a necessity, not a luxury. The wisely chosen toy will last longer, be more fun for the child and easier on the family budget, too.

Living Christmas Tree Is Gaining Popularity

Thousands of Californians in the past few years have been making annual treks to the countryside to visit that relatively recent phenomenon—the Christmas tree farm. The advantages are obvious: They not only have a fine outing in the country, but they can choose and cut a tree that is far fresher than anything to be found on a lot.

THERE IS still a better way, however, as countless gardeners have been discovering in recent years—growing your own. We haven't any statistics on the tremendous increase in do-it-yourself Christmas trees over the past decade, but the California Association of Nurserymen reports that it is phenomenal.

MORE AND more families discover each year just how nice it can be to have a living tree in the living room at Christmas time.

You can buy living Christmas trees for only slgihtly more than it costs to buy comparably sized trees on a lot. And as years go by, you have the same tree, slightly larger, at no extra cost. Talk about bargains.

THE LIVING Christmas tree is sold for either indoor or outdoor use. In each case, you can keep the tree in a container and for outdoor use, of course, you can plant it in the ground, though such treatment often results in faster growth than we might desire for decorative purposes. Many prefer to keep their outdoor trees in tubs and to leave them on the front porch, come the Yule season.

What kind of tree is best for indoor or outdoor use in California? the Deodar cedar, traditionally known as the "California? The Deodar cedar, traditionally known as the California Christmas Tree," is most popular for outdoor use, and is also of some use indoors. This gray-green, quick growing tree is seen extensively in the southern part of the state and to a lesser extent in the northern counties.

It makes a symmetrical specimen tree and unless you contain its roots, a very large specimen, at that.

DON'T DANGLE ARM

Don't dangle your arm out the window while driving. Such false arm signals only cause confusion on the highway, and confusion on the highway usually ends in collision.

Alamo P.O. Sets Holiday Schedule

Holiday season hours for the Alamo post office, Market Plaza Shopping Center, were announced this week by Postmaster Mary Ellen Gwynne.

Hours on Mondays through Fridays will be from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sundays, 12 noon to 4 p.m.

She pointed out that additional "local" and "out-of-town" labels are available. "It does help greatly to speed up delivery of your mail if you separate cards and letters with these labels," she said.

She also urged all residents to be sure their mailboxes are numbered to help temporary employees in their deliveries.

Chess Club Wins Berkeley Match

The chess team representing Walnut Creek scored an overwhelming victory against the Berkeley Chess Club week by the score of 4 to 1, with a final game between Herb Lin of Berkeley and Johann Weiler of Walnut Creek to be adjudicated.

The team, captained by R. G. Jacob and composed of Weiler, Bruce Hanson, Stan Bass, Art Rackwitz, and Randy Hanson, scored in all the games but one. Being victorious in the first match of the season gives Walnut Creek a flying start in the competitive East Bay Chess League.

The club, which meets each Tuesday evening in the Walnut Creek Recreation Center at Civic Drive and North Broadway, will welcome any resident of this area who has an interest in the game.
